

CURRENCY WAR IS THREATENED IN CONFERENCE

Argentina was increasingly in favor of some sort of inflation policy.

The gravity with which gold standard nations took the situation was reflected in the statement by gold standard men that their stout fight for currency stabilization at the conference was motivated by the fear of serious political upheavals in their countries if they went off the gold standard. Revolution was mentioned as a possibility.

The economic commission's subcommittee on immediate monetary measures decided it could continue work on coordination of production of major commodities, and could consider also the question of indirect protectionism.

The stubborn stabilization issue arose again at the meeting of the subcommittee on immediate monetary measures.

French Finance Minister Bonnet urged limitation of the committee's program to the problem of indebtedness, arguing that other monetary questions could not be discussed "so long as there is no change in the American attitude." Neville Chamberlain, British chancellor of the exchequer, suggested that the committee discuss all monetary questions because they were inseparable.

The Bonnet-Chamberlain exchange emphasized the British sign away from the gold standard nations. Bonnet recalled that the British-French agreement on monetary matters was shattered.

Harnessing Ol' Man River for Lakes-to-Gulf Ships

One of the great projects making the Mississippi river navigable for Gulf-to-Lakes and northwest shipping is the construction of 26 dams and locks between St. Paul and St. Louis. Here is one of the 26 under construction, spanning the river between Rock Island, Ill., and Davenport, Ia., shown across the river. The dam, which will be a quarter-mile long, is of the roller gate type, with four of the rollers shown in place. The dam will raise the river sixteen and a half feet. The government locks are shown along the Illinois shore.

sort of centerpiece to be tunneled through, the bridge will be built in two sections, the west bay and east bay channel crossings.

The west bay structure will include two 2810-foot spans and four 1160-foot side spans to join the center anchorage. Four huge piers, two of them 505 feet above high water, will rise from bedrock more than 210 feet below the water surface.

The massive west bay spans will be connected with the east bay structure by a single bore tunnel through Yerba Buena Island. The tunnel will be 500 feet long, 70 feet wide and 50 feet high.

A main cantilever span 1400 feet long with a clearance of 185 feet above high water will feature the east bay structure. Six spans of 500-feet each will be followed by smaller spans forming a viaduct which will carry the roadway down to ground level. The main pier will extend 230 feet below water.

The bridge is the second large project of its kind to get under way here this year. The Golden Gate bridge, a $35,000,000 single span structure crossing the famous gateway to San Francisco bay, will connect San Francisco with Marin county and the redwood empire.

At present, ferries provide the only means of transportation east and north of San Francisco.

WILL ROGERS says:

BEVERLY HILLS, July 7. (To the Editor of The Register.) The morning papers said the London conference blew up, the afternoon ones say it's blown back again. They ought to put that thing on the stock market and let people make bets on what it will do next.

Well, the boys got to see the king, and that was about all the trip was for anyhow.

The whole thing don't seem to be worrying Roosevelt. He has gained eight pounds since it started. I'll bet France has perspired away twenty-five pounds per diplomat in the same time.

They are going to yank her off that gold, just as she yanked England and America off. One wolf can't be in pack and have a bone all to himself.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

ASSOCIATION CLUBS IN BALL PARK ROW

INDIANAPOLIS, July 7.—(INS)—Whether disciplinary action would be taken by American association officials against members of the Indianapolis and Toledo teams who rioted in last night's game on the Fourth of July was being discussed today.

The fight occurred during the first inning of the second game of a doubleheader.

Bad feeling began when Dollack, Toledo outfielder, nearly was hit by one of Tisling's fast balls. He was marching out to attack the Indianapolis pitcher when Empire Gotsz subdued him.

Then Dollack hit a long fly. Reis was on third base. He dashed home after Chapman, Indianapolis outfielder, caught the ball. The runner and ball arrived at the home plate nearly simultaneously.

Catcher Riddle struck Reis a hard blow on the head with the ball to tag him. The umpire, however, called Reis safe.

Reis immediately clinched with Riddle. Then Mud Hens and Indians came running from their dugouts and soon became involved in impromptu prize fights and wrestling matches. Police rushed out on the diamond and separated the participants.

Boat Sold For Taxes At Harbor

With 14 boats attached at Newport harbor for delinquent taxes it was necessary to sell but one, according to County Assessor James Sleeper. Owners of the other craft paid their delinquent taxes and penalties and charges for impounding the boats.

According to Sleeper his deputies are attaching other small crafts in the harbor on which the taxes have not been paid and public auction of the boats will be held after allowing the owners ample time to redeem them.

Mrs. Matten came here to visit her sister, shortly before the Texas flier took off from New York, June 3 on his fateful trip.

LAMSON INQUEST IS AGAIN POSTPONED

SAN JOSE, Cal., July 7.—(UP)—An inquest into the death of Mrs. Allene Thorpe Lamson will not be held until after her husband, David A. Lamson, is tried on a charge of murdering her, Coroner Amos O. Williams, said today after a conference with state and defense attorneys.

He explained that any recommendation of the coroner's jury would be unnecessary in view of the fact a charge has been filed against Lamson, and evidence would be a repetition of that introduced at the defendant's preliminary hearing. Lamson will be tried August 21.

CAROLE LOMBARD IN RENO FOR DIVORCE

HOLLYWOOD, July 7.—(UP)—Carole Lombard, petite screen actress, has gone to Reno to divorce her sartorially perfect husband, William Powell, the actor, it was learned today.

Mrs. E. C. Peters said her daughter and Powell agreed to separate several weeks ago and that she has been in Reno a week.

"They will remain the very best of friends, despite the divorce," Mrs. Peters said. "They decided they couldn't agree. It's merely a case of incompatibility."

Powell and Miss Lombard were married June 28, 1931, in a surprise wedding. It was her first and his second marriage.

BEAUMONT LABORER HELD IN CHECK CASE

Robert J. Cochran, 28, Beaumont laborer, was arrested and booked at the county jail yesterday afternoon after he attempted to cash a check for $100 at the First National bank on which payment had been ordered stopped by Roy Stone, Artesia man, who issued the check.

Stone claimed he gave the check to Robert Renning, one of his truck drivers, who was to deliver a load of hay from Imperial valley. Renning phoned Stone yesterday morning that he had been held up in Beaumont and the check stolen, and Stone stopped payment.

Cochran claimed that he secured the check in a gambling game at Beaumont.

Santa Ana police are checking with San Bernardino county authorities and waiting the appearance of Renning.

WAGE INCREASE IS GRANTED IN NEW CONTRACT

Officially ending the widespread strike of Mexican laborers who were protesting low wages paid by Japanese employers in Orange and Los Angeles counties, a contract was drawn up last night in Los Angeles by the two groups which will insure steady employment and an increase in wages.

Alberto R. Tellez, Stanton, represented Orange county at the conference.

About 900 laborers in this county and 1900 in Los Angeles county are affected by the agreement and went back to work today. By the new arrangement, former wages ranging from 10 to 15 cents per hour have been raised to a minimum of 20 cents per hour, and for those having steady employment, the minimum was set at $1.50 for a nine hour day with 20 cents an hour for overtime.

The Central Japanese Association of Southern California agreed to the new regulations, which were demanded by the Union of Mexican Agricultural Workers and Laborers.

Other provisions of the contract provide that wages must be paid not less than twice a month and immediately upon discharge of any employee, and that there shall be no discrimination on the part of the growers against any employee for all lawful activities in connection with the strike.

The contract will terminate August 15, when further conferences will be held and the situation reviewed at that time.

Some of the officials who signed the contract and agreed to its terms were F. Miro Toudsa, president General Japanese association; V. Satow, consul of Japan; A. V. Martinez, consul of Mexico, and Armando Flores, general secretary of the Mexican group. It was approved by Thomas Barker, chief deputy of the division of labor statistics and law enforcement, department of industrial relations, state of California.

AMERICA NEEDS UNDYING FAITH AVERS SPEAKER

The supreme need of America now is an undying faith, Harry V. Adams, of the speakers bureau of the Security First National bank, told members and guests of the Santa Ana Lions club at the regular weekly luncheon meeting yesterday in Ketter's cafe.

Prior to the address, Ernest Gould, program chairman, introduced Gertrude Woodruff, who sang two selections, accompanied by Peggy Warburton at the piano, and Marjorie Lauderbach, who gave readings.

Adams spoke on the subject, "If Everyone Had a Million Dollars." He declared that the present age is a materialistic one, and that the younger generation has been trained to hear the tinkle of coins.

"Cash without character is a curse," he said. "The number of dollars a man has has nothing to do with his character. Economic conditions do not make or break a man; it is the individual attitude toward a situation.

"If everyone had a million dollars their money would not have more than $100 worth of purchasing power. There would be an orgy of spending. Prices would go up and up. More people are suffering now from over feeding than under feeding. To place such a huge amount of money in peoples hands would hurt the national health, increase crime and result in chaos."

The speaker stressed the point that nothing in this world comes easily, and that worthwhile things are and always will be, hard to obtain.

Charge Desertion In Divorce Suit

Mrs. Allie Ruth Conder filed suit in superior court yesterday seeking an interlocutory decree of divorce from her husband, Elmer Lucius Conder. Her complaint accuses her husband of desertion. In addition to a decree of divorce, Mrs. Conder is seeking custody of the five-year-old son of the couple.

The Conders were married September 18, 1928, in Los Angeles and separated July 30, 1931.

Judge's Memory Causes Arrest Of Trial Witness

Appearing as a witness in a civil action yesterday afternoon in Judge Kenneth Morrison's justice court, W. C. Woods, 32, 1305 North Broadway, gave his testimony. Picked up his hat and walked out of the courtroom. In the hallway, he was confronted by Bailiff Fred Humiston of the sheriff's office with a warrant issued in 1929, charging him with non-support of a minor child. He was jailed and brought before Judge Morrison this morning and was sentenced to pay $2.50 a week to the probation department.

During the course of the civil action, Judge Morrison vaguely remembered that Woods was wanted for some offense. He whispered to John Tulene, his clerk, to look up the records and the forgotten warrant came to light. The sheriff's office was notified and the warrant ready when Woods departed. The original complaint was secured by his divorced wife in 1928. When Woods failed to make his payments, she secured another in 1929 but he was never arrested.

ATTORNEY IN THEFT CASE WITHDRAWS

Appointment of A. M. Bradley as attorney for Clara and Pearl Miller and F. Underwood, accused of grand theft and burglary, was made this morning by Superior Judge James L. Allen following withdrawal from the case by D. G. Wetlin. Trial has been set for July 20.

The Miller sisters and Underwood are charged with stealing a car, suitcase and $48 in currency and a gun from Bob Allen. According to the complaint the theft took place June 1, when Allen picked up the trio as hitch-hikers near Newport Beach. They were en route to San Diego. Allen who was on his way to San Diego offered to take the trio if they were willing to wait until the next day. He took them to his beach home at Balboa and it is charged that the trio departed in the night with Allen's car, suitcase and money. They were arrested in El Centro.

Charley Retzlaff Wins By Knockout

Retzlaff put away Eddie Prante of Philadelphia, in the second round of a scheduled 6-round match here last night.

COUNCIL NOT IN AGREEMENT ON HALL SITE

Indications of a controversy as to where the new city hall is to be located if the city council secures funds from the national public works program to erect the building, loomed today following an announcement made yesterday by Mayor Paul Witmer that Birch park would be an ideal spot for the new building.

Both Witmer and Councilman A. F. LeGaye are in favor of the Birch park location, provided satisfactory arrangements can be made on other city-owned property to provide revenue to purchase a large park somewhere else in the city. They maintain that the value of Birch park would be enhanced with the addition of a large city hall in the western end and the sale of the vacated property would buy a new park without further expense to the taxpayers.

Councilman A. C. Hasenjaeger is in favor of building a three-story building on the old site at Third and Main streets, he indicated this morning. E. G. Warner, the only other trustee in the city, did not wish to declare himself for either location, but said that other developments in the park situation might necessitate new arrangements.

Action Required Soon

Whether or not the councilmen agree on the site, definite action will have to be taken in the near future and it is likely that the matter will be discussed at the meeting Monday night.

William Penn, who is in the east, is not known to favor any one of the possible sites.

Conversation with the councilmen today revealed that there is a possibility that some public-spirited person in the city might donate a large tract of land to the city for a city park. If this should take place, there would be little objection to using part of Birch park for a city hall site, it was believed.

In the statement given yesterday by Witmer, his plan called for the removal of the band stand and rest rooms from the center of the park. The east entrance of the city hall would be built in the form of a large shell to provide facilities for band concerts, entertainments, plays, and speeches.

Lease Hall Site
The city library could be moved to the park when desired, and the vacant property at Fifth and Sycamore streets and the old city hall site could be sold to pay for a new park. Other city property could be included in the selling to bear part of the cost, it is pointed out.

Rumors are current that a prominent oil company is seeking to lease the old city hall site at Third and Main streets for a service station. Revenue from this or any other business venture on the property, combined with funds appropriated from the water department, would pay for the interest and payments on the loan from the government to build the new city hall. It is declared by proponents of the Birch park site.

TERMS GIVEN TWO AS PART OF PROBATION

Robert Kublerly who pleaded guilty to burglary, was denied probation this morning by Superior Judge James L. Allen. Kublerly was sentenced to spend two years in the Preston School of Industry. Kublerly was arrested by Santa Ana police while he was attempting to break into the store of the Maytag company.

Testifying at his probation hearing this morning he told the court that, aside from serving a term in a middle west reformatory for highway robbery when he was 17 years old, he had never been in trouble before. Upon questioning he admitted having committed robbery in Topeka, Kansas, burglarizing a pool hall in Fullerton and another burglary job in Santa Ana but told the court that he had not been caught.

Rudy Bravo was denied probation on a charge of driving an automobile without the owner's permission and sentenced to the county jail for one year. In pronouncing judgment Judge Allen told Bravo that the sentence will be suspended upon his deportation to Mexico.

H. O. Whittaker, recently convicted of slandering his aunt Mrs. Daisy Nolan, was granted probation for a period of three years. In granting probation Judge Allen advised Whittaker to refrain from talking about other people. Whittaker was convicted on a charge that he had accused his aunt of operating a house of ill fame and charged that his wife was an inmate of the resort.

ORDINANCE ON BEER CHANGED BY OFFICIALS

LAGUNA BEACH, July 7.

Reversing its action of two weeks ago, the city council of Laguna Beach voted Wednesday night to allow the issuance of both "off sale" and "on sale" licenses to the same person, on condition that both licenses be paid. The "off sale" license is $7.50 per year and the "on sale" $15.

This action was suggested by Councilman M. B. McMillan and backed strongly by former Mayor J. E. Bishop. Councilman George W. Wilson opposed it vigorously. The council voted to instruct the police to enforce at once the ordinance providing penalties for sale of 3.2 beer or wines without a license and to prosecute those holding only one license who are selling both ways.

It was also voted unanimously to have criminal complaints issued at once against those who have failed to pay their business licenses. The total amount due is $540.78, reduced in the past month from more than $1200 after such action had been threatened. The list of 36 delinquents contains the names of some of the most prominent business houses in the city.

The application of M. J. Collier, who recently purchased the only pool hall in the city from Fred Christensen for an "on sale" license was granted on his promise to comply with the ordinance regarding the serving of meals and to place stools in front of his counter so that customers may be seated. Councilman Wilson declared the counter was an old-fashioned bar and that with draft beer served behind it, the place resembled a saloon. Councilman McMillan and Bishop supported Collier's claim.

City Clerk G. W. Prior read a number of recommendations as to his character, which revealed that he had been the captain of a number of private yachts. The application of Zoe Stephens was held up pending investigation of a fire in a cafe operated by her at 208 El Paseo. Wilson succeeded in holding up the license applied for by Edith M. and Allen Sewell on the ground that they are not citizens. It will be considered further. One was granted, however, to John Pickells, lessee of a cafe in the dance hall, who is not a citizen. Pickells promised not to have beer on sale during dance hours.

An "on sale" license was granted to Fred B. Humphries, manager of the Hotel del Camino; an "off sale" license to Van's Food Market.

The request of U. A. Thatcher, supervisor for the first Los Angeles county district, who owns property in the Arch Beach section, for the abandonment of an alley, was filed without action.

A petition signed by property owners abutting the beach at Sugar Loaf, against the establishment of a comfort station at that point, was filed for future reference. Councilman Wilson, health commissioner, was not prepared to make a report on the request of other property owners who petitioned for the station at the last meeting.

George Griffith, son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Griffith, was appointed a lifeguard for the balance of the season. He will patrol Shaw's beach and Divers Cove. The recommendation was made by the Red Cross branch.

Marie B. Garth asked the council in a communication how she was to be reimbursed for $500 in bills incurred when she fell on the sidewalk in front of the Anna A. Hills studio May 25 and which she claimed was due to a break in the walk. The matter was referred to City Attorney Milburn G. Harvey.

Floyd W. Case, superintendent of streets, reported that the cost of constructing a concrete slab for a tennis court in Heister park would be close to $600. Kurt Perin, president, and Frank D. Hevener, treasurer, of the newly organized Laguna Beach Tennis club, reported that 80 members had been signed up and that if the council builds the court the fencing and other paraphernalia would be paid by the club. Mayor Frank B. Chapman said he did not think the city finances would warrant the expenditure at this time and suggested that the court be financed privately as the bowling green was. The council agreed to meet as a committee of the whole Saturday afternoon and visit the site of the proposed court and determine if the rough work, at least, could be done.

BREA, July 7.—Although Mrs. Edna Brambley made all the arrangements for what she supposed was to have been a surprise on the members of the Odd Fellows lodge here on Wednesday night, the affair resulted in a complete surprise on herself, a courtesy given her as outgoing noble grand of the Rebekah lodge.

Mrs. Brambley arranged to serve sandwiches, coffee, ice cream and cake and to have an informal party following the business meeting of the lodge with several of the Rebekahs to act as the hostess group. Her plans were carried out but with herself as the honor guest.

Members of the lodge presented Mrs. Brambley with several pieces of glassware, enough to complete a luncheon set which she had begun to collect.

Installation of officers of Trinity Rebekah lodge will take place next Wednesday night. It will be open to other lodges and friends.

CONGREGATION HONORS PASTOR AT HOME PARTY

ANAHEIM, July 7.—Because of the active part he has taken in the social and religious welfare of his church and in the community, 80 friends and members of the congregation gathered last night in the gardens of 123 South Knickerbocker street, to pay tribute to the Rev. D. Howard Dow, rector of St. Michael's Episcopal church, who is this week observing his third anniversary here.

Gaily colored Japanese lanterns illuminated the gardens for the 6:30 o'clock supper and the hours of games that followed. The long tables were centered with baskets of colorful blossoms. At the close of the supper a large angel food birthday cake, with three lighted tapers, was presented the honored guest.

Prizes for the games were awarded to Miss Mary Ella Parks, first for the ladies; Mrs. Robert Rundstrom, second; Clifford Ross, first for the men and Tommy Turton, second.

ANAHEIM, July 7.—Bonnie and Buddy Jones, marathon sky dancers, went up on their 30 inch platform 175 feet above the ground, at 7:30 o'clock last night and will remain there until 9:30 o'clock Saturday night. With flood lights playing on them the brother and sister could be seen away about on their small perch, without protective railing, all through the night.

The dance must continue the required length of time or a $100 reward will be given to the person finding the couple off the pole that is located atop of Valencia hotel.

The dance is being sponsored by a group of local merchants and business men. The couple expects to go to the Orient following their appearance here.

ANAHEIM, July 7.—A special meeting of the city council has been called for tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the city hall, where the board of trustees will discuss the possibility of civic improvements that might be undertaken locally under the recently passed industrial recovery act.

Mayor Charles Mann declared that there has been no previous discussion as a group.

ANAHEIM, July 7.—Between July 17 and 22 merchants and business men of the city will try a new business plan of putting the auction dollar plan into use. L. Griffin of Los Angeles.

The plan is thought to stimulate trade. Arrangements will be completed in the near future by E. M. Keath, chairman of the advertising committee, C. Frank Thomas, O. H. Renner, George Henry and Victor Lolly.

"Luckies Please!" You, our personal friends, have been saying it for years. And because it so aptly sums up the Lucky Strike story, we've taken the words right out of your mouth. "Luckies Please!" of course. They please in the quality of their fine tobaccos. They please in the mildness and purity of "Toasting". They please the taste. They please the throat. In every way and always, "Luckies Please!" May we thank you, Mr. and Mrs. Smoker, for giving us this phrase?

CITY COUNCIL DEFERS ACTION ON RACE TRACK

SEAL BEACH, July 7.—At the regular meeting of the Seal Beach city council last night, action was deferred on the race track ordinance since no word has been received from Col. Berger who represents the backers of the scheme. It is expected that the ordinance will be acted upon at that time.

It is understood that the plans have received a setback with the refusal of the Hellman interests to grant the $5-year lease which was desired for the track. The land in question is that tract which is now occupied by the Seal Beach airport. This site is favored by the track promoters as it is located on one of the major highways of the state, it is accessible to several million people residing in an area of fifty miles, and it is near the ocean where the weather is tempered to a comfortable condition at all times.

The application of A. E. Walker for permit for "on sale" liquor license and of Nina Bennett of the Glider Inn for an "off sale" license were granted.

Municipal Judge Fred Smith reported that 47 traffic cases and two intoxication cases were handled in the local court during the month of June; the total fines amounted to $434.50.

Two applications for the vacancy in the water and street department created by the resignation of F. L. Sexton, were filed by two local men, W. F. Hardesty and Arthur W. Kobenick. No appointments were made; the applications were ordered filed for future reference.

In an attempt to control the delinquency in payment of water accounts, a new ordinance "regulating and controlling the use, sale and distribution of water to the inhabitants of Seal Beach" was adopted after its second and final reading before the council. The new ordinance provides a rate of 25c per hundred cubic feet with a minimum of $1 for all domestic and business uses other than agricultural.

A graduated scale of charges according to the size is established for all private fire lines. For all services larger than the standard domestic service an increase scale of rates is provided in proportion to the size of the meter.

In order that the water superintendent shall have some definite method of collecting delinquencies, the ordinance provides that all delinquencies shall be charged against the property to which the water is furnished and shall become a lien against the property. The report of Water Superintendent C. L. Mechem shows a delinquency in the water accounts of $611.19.

In response to a communication from Supervisor John C. Mitchell in connection with participation in the plan of the National Public Works Committee for federal funds with which to carry out public works construction projects, the council proposed to employ Victor Hays to prepare the necessary blue prints and data for the applications.

The associated made application for a permit to install two conduits under the sidewalk on the south side of the new East Second street bridge over the flood control now under construction. The matter was referred to City Attorney Burr A. Brown for investigation.

DRASTIC TAXES REQUIRED TO MEET DEFICIT

SACRAMENTO, Cal., July 7.—(UP)—The time is rapidly approaching when the state must issue its I. O. U.s—registered warrants—Director of Finance Rolland Vandegrift has informed Governor Rolph.

Unless the legislature, at its July session, enacts sufficient taxes to wipe out existing and anticipated general fund deficits estimated at $45,000,000, the registered warrants will begin October 1. The $45,000,000 figure does not include, of course, the $75,000,000 that must also be raised by the state to defray the counties fixed school charges, as provided in proposition number 1 on the special election ballot.

The state is now operating on borrowed money. Four millions were transferred from special funds to the general fund—a loan—May 5. Six millions more must be borrowed for July, August and September.

"Approximately $10,000,000 will be the maximum amount that can be 'borrowed' from special funds without hampering the normal activities of the agencies supported by such funds," the finance director said.

"Apportionments to public schools will deplete entirely the cash sources of the general fund so that, unless new tax measures are enacted, it will be necessary to commence registering warrants against the general fund in the latter part of September."

Vandegrift said he hoped it would be unnecessary for state employees and others to accept a discount in cashing their warrants. He pointed out that a new law has been enacted whereby state registered warrants carry five per cent interest. That, he seemed to think, was a reasonable guarantee against discounts.

"If any state employee is so fortunate to hold his warrants until money is available," he pointed out, "it will be possible for him to collect the face amount of his warrants plus interest at the rate of five per cent from the time they were registered."

The finance director hopes the legislature will take proper steps to avert registering warrants. This can only be accomplished by passing drastic tax measure bringing in additional revenue.

John McIntosh and Gordon McAllister of Midway City spent July 4 at Long Beach where they attended the fireworks display in the evening.

Mary Young, former local resident and now of Pine Valley, San Diego county is spending a vacation in Wintersburg in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Atkins.

C. C. Deardoff of Riverside who has been visiting his daughter at Huntington Beach called in the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Fox.

E. M. Fox has been confined at his home this week, ill with influenza.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Henry entertained a group of Long Beach friends in their home over the Fourth, and a part of the day was spent at the beach.

Mr. and Mrs. Ferrell have as guests Mrs. Ferrell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rogers of Lindsey who have come to make their home with the Ferrells for a time.

Mr. and Mrs. Summerfelt were away over the Fourth spending the vacation with relatives in Whittier.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Gardner are now located in Miss Ethel Dwyer's house in Wintersburg.

Verle and Ross Cowling have returned from a week's outing trip to Yosemite and a visit with friends, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bray at Le Grand.

CYPRESS

CYPRESS, July 7.—Fourteen Cypress families celebrated the holiday with a group picnic at recreation park in Long Beach. The dinner was a pot-luck affair after which the folks spent the afternoon playing cards and swimming. Those who were present with their families were Mesdames and Messrs: Carsons, LaRue, White, Fuquay, Wolfgram, Carpenter, Johnston, Bunyard, Dennis, Sealy, Burr, Melvin, Hardin, Miller, and Mosey.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Barnett, Clare Barnett, and Charlene Hilliard attended the air races at Mines Field Tuesday.

Mrs. D. A. French, of Rowan, Iowa, accompanied by Mrs. Grace Dayton of Cedar Rapids, arrived at the home of her son Dr. R. D. Temple, today.

Martin MacNamara and Loyd Garrison returned Tuesday from a week's fishing trip in the Kera river country.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Keefer of Hollywood were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Priddy over the holidays.

For the third time within a year the Cypress bank has reopened for business. The bank, a branch of an Anaheim bank, was forced to move to the main office temporarily, due to the damage to their building caused by the earthquake. Mr. Louis A. Fry, manager of the bank stated that the bank had weathered a tough year but that they were back again and this time to stay. Business in the bank was resumed Wednesday morning.

The Cypress Women's club will sponsor a lawn party and pot-luck supper to be held at the home of Mrs. C. L. Barnett at 6:30 Tuesday evening, July 11. The party is to be open to the public and admission of fifty cents. A family will be charged, the proceeds to go to the club building fund. There will be card games after the dinner. Mrs. Len White and a committee are in charge of the arrangements.

DeOle Mosey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mosey, took as his bride Miss Louise Grossman of Long Beach. The ceremony took place Monday afternoon at the Wee Kirk O' The Heather in Glendale. The Rev. Taubman of Long Beach officiated. The ceremony was very impressive and well attended. Those who attended from Cypress were Mr. and Mrs. Richard Mosey and Richard Jr., parents of the groom, and Mr. and Mrs. G. G. Priddy. The newlyweds will reside in Long Beach where Mr. Mosey is employed.

KIDNAPERS

Modern civilization's most vicious racket—kidnaping—will not catch the White House family napping.

Tried and proven operatives of the United States Secret Service have been assigned to guard the Roosevelt grandchildren. They have taken over their new detail in greatest secrecy.

Henceforth an unobtrusive but protective shadow will fall over these charming tots. It would be a bold mob that tried to snatch one of the young Roosevelts.

The Royal Northwest Mounted huk nothing on the Secret Service for getting—or blocking—its man.

COAL

The coal industry has agreed privately to try a little psychology when it comes to bat before Recovery Administrator Johnson.

Shiny-elbowed "coal barons" realize the industrial code they're cooking up won't jibe with administration desires.

So they'll arrive in court beating a drum of self-adulation.

Coal operators have decided in shirt-sleeve executive session that they simply can't afford to make a minimum wage guarantee at this time.

Instead, they plan to "point with pride" to their charity efforts through a period of darkest depression. They will argue that innumerable miner families have been carried by companies even though production and prices are off 50 per cent. Food and a roof have been furnished at the expense of company reserves when there was no work.

What you might call regional codes will be submitted by the bituminous industry. This will give the Industrial Recovery Administration five or six to pick from. Differentials in freight rates will be the excuse for separate codes.

Basically, all will suggest central selling agencies to govern production by orders. All mines that produced anything in 1932 would be cut in.

When it comes to wages, the owners will declare they have been carrying most of their miners for several years. They will admit the miners are "barely existing" and claim the new set-up would permit them to pay a living wage.

Pay increases, they will argue, must follow rehabilitation of the industry.

General Johnson will not listen to this line of reasoning at present. He intends to get some more favorable ones disposed of first. It probably will be some time before he gets around to coal.

The anthracite industry will mark time until its soft brother gets a verdict.

Meanwhile confidential questionnaires have gone out to the bituminous men seeking information to back up their plea for special consideration.

PROBE

When the Senate Banking and Currency committee gets back to its labors next October the firm of Dillon, Reed is due for a shelling.

A look into Prosecutor Pecora's under-cover records indicates the persistent Italian is considerably interested in that concern's manipulation of the Dodge Motor company. Investigators are in Detroit to pry out comparative figures on cost, production and financing of capital structure.

Dillon, Reed apparently bought Dodge for $148,000,000 and immediately issued $235,000,000 in securities.

The Michigan Securities commission detected an unpleasant aroma at the time and denied them a license to market the stock within the Wolverine borders.

FARLEY

If you should notice a deep red at the base of Jim Farley's neck, charge it off to Prof. Floyd Reeves of Chicago University.

Brain Trustee Reeves came down to Washington at the behest of Prof. Arthur E. Morgan, chief Tennessee Valley authority, to take over selection of personnel.

Senator McKellar of Tennessee called about a job.

Professor Reeves impersonally informed McKellar that members of Congress bore no weight when it came to parceling out positions.

McKellar gasped twice at such audacity and phoned the postmaster general.

Job Allocator Farley got in touch with Professor Reeves and asked how come?

Dignifiedly, the Muscle Shoals personnel chief countered:

"General, don't you realize you're violating the law by trying to exert political influence in connection with these jobs?"

Reeves was right. There's an obscure provision in the Tennessee Valley act which says appointments must be apart from all political consideration.

JAPAN

Military intelligence officers are still weighing Japan's recent campaign in China for possible effect on future warfare.

European militarists decided as a result of the World war that aircraft must be the eyes of future armies. The Jap general staff maintains that cavalry is still indispensable.

Our inside technicians admit that the Nipponese conquest of China beats anything since the days of Genghis Khan and Alexander the Great. Their private reports show the Japs moved 13 consecutive days at the rate of 20 miles a day.

On the last three days through Jehol they advanced 50 miles daily. And this was over mountain passes and through blizzards.

You would have needed ear-muffs and longies for the whole parade.

NOTES

The news at London over gold and currency was duck soup for Secretary of State Hull. . . . He was internationally labeled for the discard when Professor Moley arrived with supposed instructions for a "super-delegate." . . . Then came the Roosevelt pronouncement concerning our tepidity towards immediate return to the gold standard. . . . Moley had made a lot of bold forecasts and got caught looking out the window. . . . Be on the look-out for George AKERSON to grab off one of those jobs which must go to a Republican. . . . George was Herbert Hoover's first White House secretary. . . . He did some favors transcending all politics for certain of the boys that are now in. . . . The bituminous operators would like to make the retailer the villain in their case. . . . They point sadly to the retail practice of adding to the price of coal delivery costs that almost equal their mine-mouth sale.

NEW YORK

By James McMullin

SURPRISE

Mr. Roosevelt's knockout punch at stabilization left Wall street gasping for breath.

Local big shots who thought they were close to the administration were the most surprised of all. They knew we wouldn't stabilize, but they fully expected the gold bloc would be fed some diplomatic soothing syrup. They made sure that Moley, Baruch and Woodin all favored it. Imagine their embarrassment when the syrup turned out to be a healthy dose of T. N. T.

The message had important inside effects here. It aroused more caustic criticism of the President than anything he has done since he took office. The ranks of his recently acquired New York allies are wavering at the moment. All of which is fertile ground for Republican plowing, and are they plowing it!

The criticism is directed at the form rather than the substance. Even the "international bankers" are sold on the idea that domestic rehabilitation must come ahead of world agreements. They have cooperated on that premise. They don't love France, but they can't see the point of deliberately kicking her in the face.

The financial district is still too genuinely in awe of the President's powers to indulge in open opposition. But the message gave great impetus to secret opposition which may color future relations between Washington and New York.

Informed sources ascribe publicly two reasons for the sharp tone of the note. One is the need to keep the dollar "psychologically depressed." It would probably go up if left to itself and thereby upset the price-rise appeacart.

The other is the pressure of public opinion from the West and South by those who want their isolation straight.

CURRENCIES

They are saying here that Professor Irving Fisher must be twins. The manager currency implication in the President's message was right up his alley. They can't figure how it got in there when he was miles away from the White House. This project scares the shirt off the conservatives and they had no idea it would be brought up by anyone in authority.

The current Swedish experiment with "rubber money" is partly traceable to the Fisher influence. He and Prof. Gustav Cassel of Sweden have worked together on his pet doctrine for years. Cassel sold it to the Swedish government. So far it has worked pretty well but critics say that is because it has been pegged in terms of a steady franc.

The recent ground and lofty tumbling of the dollar is not due to New York maneuvers. Local financiers stepped out when it touched $4.20 to the pound. The exchange market now is so very thin that the slightest routine transaction can and do bring a shift of several cents.

An odd angle is that the gold bloc itself had something to do with last week's dollar drop. Their object was to scare us by showing what dizzy fluctuations would follow if we didn't stabilize. The only hitch was that we declined to scare.

DAVIS

Norman Davis is out of a job without being fired. Adjournment of the Disarmament Conference took care of that. He simply won't be among those present when it reconvenes.

It's a neat way of sparing blushes and saving Congressional blood pressures. Mr. Davis retires without stigma and everybody is happy except perhaps Congressmen who will lose an opportunity to make fiery speeches about him. Nobody even had to light one of those well-known cigarettes.

JAPAN

New York insiders hear that our policy toward Japan will soon take a somersault. We will decide that Manchukuo is none of our business. We will make this clear to Japan before we recognize Russia—thus avoiding a family misunderstanding. Authorities have decided it is simpler to quit telling Japan what to do than to keep on stirring up futile friction.

At the same time trade relations between Japan and Britain have taken a turn for the worse. Japan is boycotting Indian cotton and is planning a cotton goods invasion into countries hitherto regarded as Lancashire's undisputed territory. They must spin American cotton to do that.

There is strange talk that this trade conflict between Japan and Britain may reach the point of war. Japanese business elements would like to see Britain removed from the Far East and the whole Orient thrown open for their own exploitation. The militarists are keen to grab off the Singapore naval base and rifle Britain's possessions.

Antoinette Brown Blackwell, to whom Oberlin gave the first Bachelor of Divinity degree ever accorded to a woman.

100 YEARS of BETTY CO-ED!

Oberlin, the first college to go co-educational, opened its doors to women in 1833, and today its "heresies" are accepted the world over

BETTY CO-ED is just about to celebrate her 100th birthday—and, for all her years, the young lady is spryer, prettier and generally more engaging than ever.

The 100th birthday comes as a part of the centennial celebration of Oberlin College, which is being held this month.

For Oberlin was the first college in America to enroll women as students on an equal footing with men.

It launched its co-educational experiment—an experiment so radical that it made strong men shiver and caused professorial beards to wag excitedly all the way from Ohio to Massachusetts—just a century ago, in 1833, on a flat, elm-dotted plain some 30 miles southwest of what was then the small city of Cleveland.

Admitting co-eds alongside the men students wasn't the only radical thing Oberlin did, either.

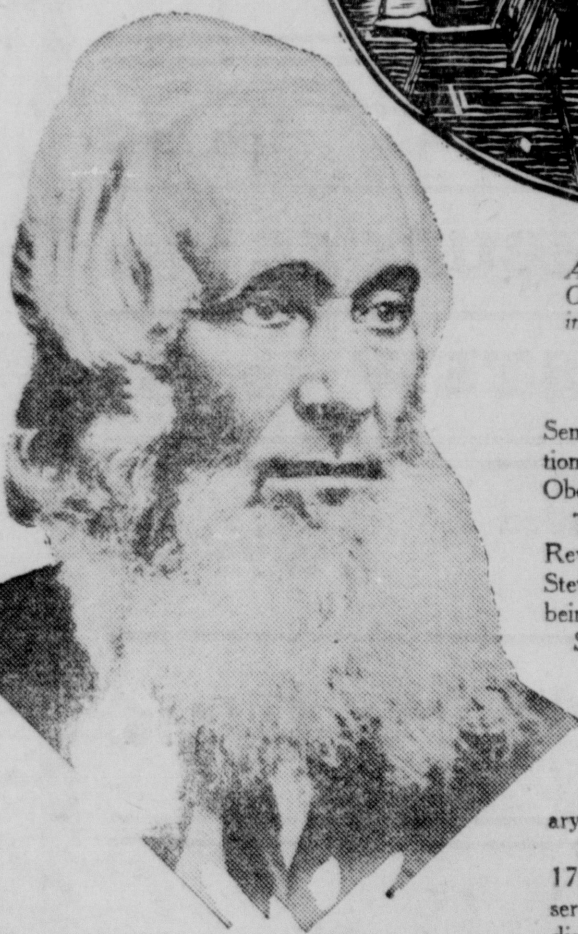

It was the first college to grant the A. B. (Bachelor of Arts) and B. D. (Bachelor of Divinity) degrees to women. It was the first American college to admit students regardless of sect, color or creed; the first to take a definite stand against slavery, and a leader in temperance and social reform movements from the day it was founded.

SO its centennial celebration is quite an occasion; and the 400,000 women who are at present enrolled in universities throughout the world really owe Oberlin a bit of a debt for paving the way for their entrance into the academic halls.

Known as one of the most cosmopolitan of colleges, Oberlin has students from every American state and territory and from 17 foreign countries. And her educational influence has been felt throughout the world. In many parts of the world—in the British Empire, in India, in China, in Turkey and in the Balkans—she has seen her co-educational policy copied as a model.

A century ago the mere idea that women needed college educations at all was a matter for skepticism.

As early as 1625 girls were taught the rudiments of English in colonial institutions described as "dame schools." Usually such a school was simply the living room of a private home, adapted by a widow or an energetic spinster for educational purposes; and the "dame school" was very often a target for jokes from skeptical and unfeeling citizens.

Asa Mahan, who as president of Oberlin in 1841 was the first man to confer college degrees on women.

But if it was agreed that there might be occasions when girls could be educated, nobody dreamed that they could be educated alongside of boys. The elders of New Haven, when they founded their school system, stipulated that "all girls be excluded as improper, as ye law enjoins and is the design of this settlement"; and the great colonial leader, Gov. John Winthrop, wrote that women should not meddle into such things "as are proper for men, whose minds are stronger."

THE village of Medford, Conn., voted in 1766 that "the school master may instruct girls, but only after the boys are dismissed." In Norwich, Conn., the enticing hours of 5 to 7 a. m. were set aside for the fair sex. Nathan Hale, Revolutionary War hero, wrote in his journal that he had spent one summer teaching a school for girls; the school convened at those hours, and Hale got one shilling per pupil.

By 1803 Bradford Academy, in Massachusetts, was admitting both men and women to its four-year preparatory course, and Mrs. Emma Willard founded the Troy Female

A copy of an old drawing showing Oberlin men and women students in class together in the early days of the college.

Seminary in 1814; but college education for women had to wait on Oberlin.

Two young New Englanders, the Rev. John J. Shipperd and Philo P. Stewart, brought the new college into being.

Shipperd was born in West Granville, N. Y., in 1802. He became active in church work, and eventually was sent to Cleveland—then a town of 1100 people—by the American Home Missionary Society.

Stewart, born in Sherman, Conn., in 1798, had been sent out in 1821 to serve as missionary to the Choctaw Indians. In 1828 his health failed and he undertook the less arduous work of minister in a church in Elyria, O., near Cleveland.

HE and Shipperd met and evolved a plan to establish an ideal educational community in the middle west. They planned to get a tract of land, colonize a group of Christian families on it and found a college; and in 1832 they drew up a covenant setting forth their ideals.

"The grand objects of the Oberlin Institute," wrote Shipperd, "are the most useful education for the least expense of health, time and money;

"To extend the benefits of such education to both sexes and to all classes of the community as far as its means will allow;

"The elevation of female character by bringing within the reach of the misjudged and neglected sex all the instructive privileges which have hitherto unreasonably distinguished the leading sex from theirs."

The name, Oberlin, was chosen in honor of John Frederick Oberlin, an Alsatian pastor in eastern France who was famed for his self-denying life and his ideal of Christian brotherhood.

Thus, in 1833, Oberlin opened its doors. Once the news got around that here was a full-fledged college where women could become students on the same basis as men, a mad rush was on.

"As hungry herds look from their parched and barren fields," wrote Lucy Stone, one of Oberlin's most distinguished graduates, "so began women to look at Oberlin."

In that first year the college had 44 students, of whom 15 were women.

The first college catalog speaks of "a female department, under the supervision of a lady, where instruction in the useful branches will be taught; and its higher classes will be permitted to enjoy the privileges of such professorships in the teachers', collegiate and theological departments as shall best suit their sex and prospective employment."

IT was pointed out, too, that "young ladies of good minds, unblemished morals and respectable attainments are received and

THE fact that an active station in the famous "underground railway" was located at Oberlin did not lessen the force of their criticisms.

But Oberlin went ahead, ignoring criticism, and in 1841 it recorded a significant landmark in the history of higher education. In that year three Oberlin co-eds received the first A. B. degrees ever granted to women.

These women were Mary Hosford, daughter of a Vermont pioneer; Elizabeth Smith, Prall of New York, and Caroline M. Rudd of Huntington, Conn. The diplomas were handed out in a large tent on the college campus by President Asa Mahan, and since they were awarded in alphabetical order Miss Hosford became the first of all women to receive a college degree.

College life in those early days had very little resemblance to college life of the present.

Board during the first years varied in cost from 50 cents a week for a vegetarian diet to $1 for a menu which included meat. Rooms were rented for 50 cents a week, and the tuition was $25. From the very beginning the college lived up to its motto—"Learning and Labor."

Each student was required to put in four hours of manual labor a day in the interest of his body, mind and spirit. On one occasion all classes were suspended for three days in order that professors and students might join in building Ladies' Hall, a three-story building 80 feet long and 40 feet wide.

NOT long after its founding Oberlin got an influx of more than 80 students from Lane Theological Seminary in Cincinnati.

The Lane students had been indulging in a good deal of anti-slavery agitation, and the Lane faculty had ordered them to desist. Rather than stop, they left their school in a body and enrolled in Oberlin, where anti-slavery agitation was not hampered in the least. Incidentally, one of the Lane trustees resigned and became president of Oberlin; he was the Asa Mahan who was the first college president to give a woman a diploma.

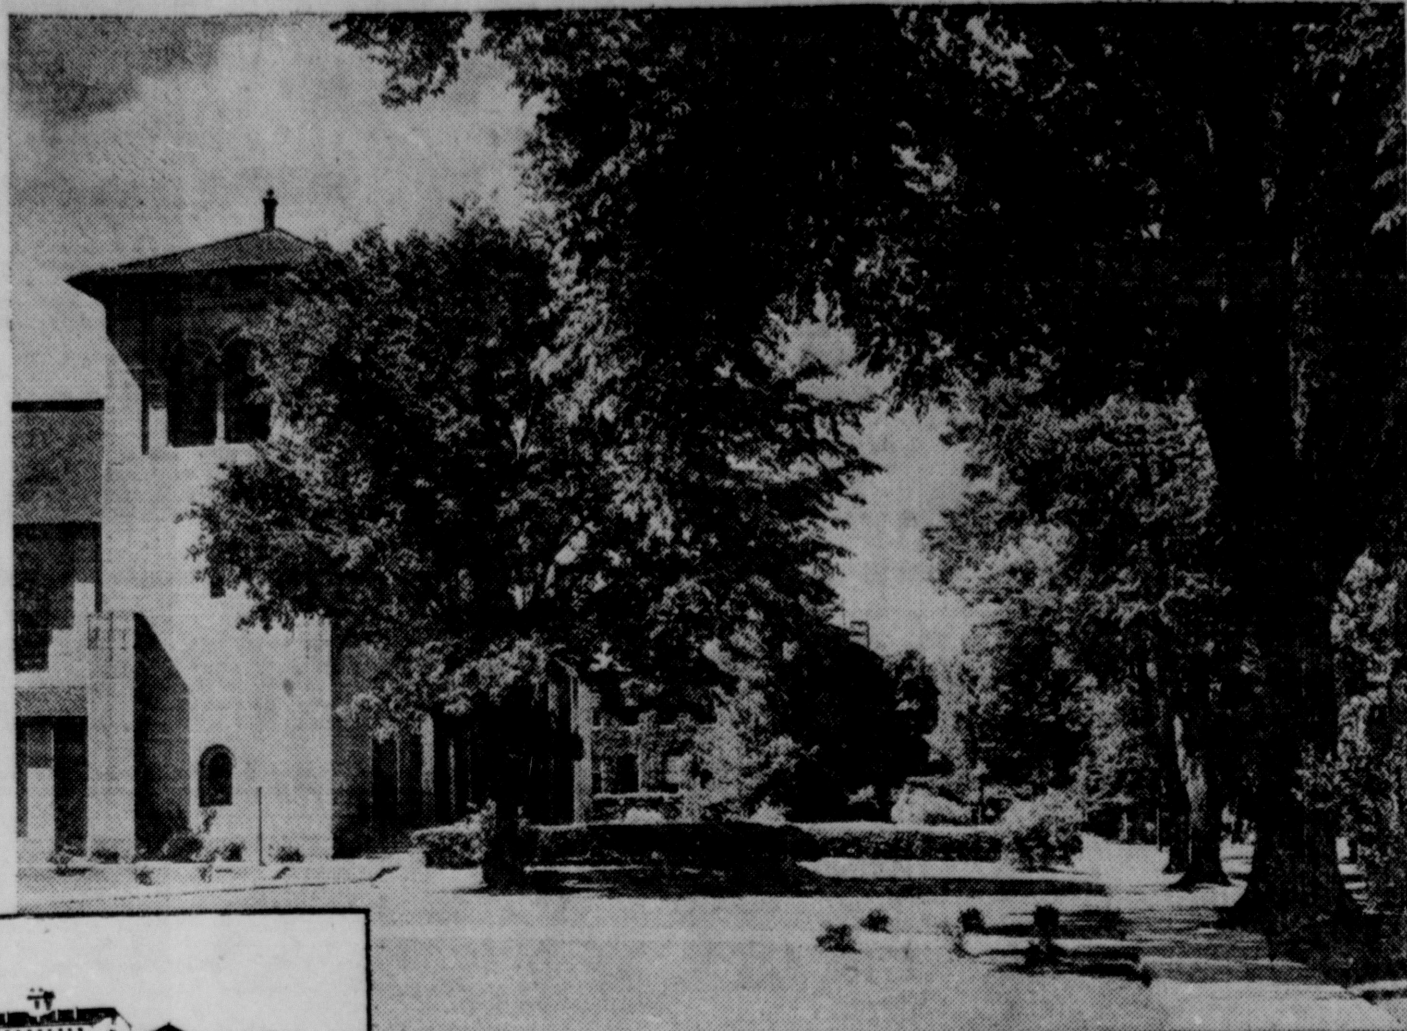

One of the principal reasons why people in those days attacked Oberlin's co-educational policy so bitterly was the belief that the fair sex, once educated, would refuse home tasks and marriage. This belief, however, seems to have had no foundation. Dr. Louis D. Hartson, professor of psychology at Oberlin, recently looked up the statistics to see, and found that in those early days more than 97 per cent of all Oberlin women graduates got married.

That percentage, by the way, has shrunk considerably since then. Today about 60 per cent of Oberlin women marry—approximately the same percentage as holds good for graduates of Wellesley and Smith.

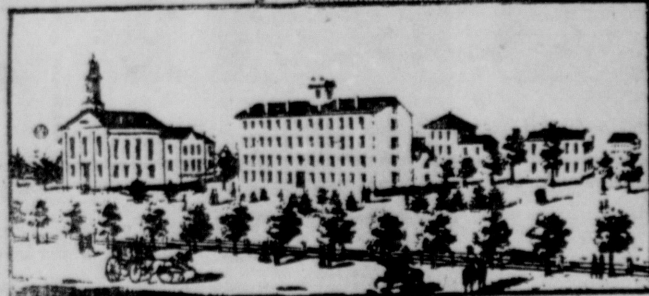

By 1850 Oberlin was firmly established. The first divinity degrees ever given women had been awarded, three years earlier, to Antoinette Brown Blackwell and Lettice Smith. Co-education was being adopted elsewhere. By 1870 it was in vogue in nearly 100 American colleges.

Today Oberlin co-eds continue to enjoy their traditional equality with men students in all walks of college life.

Thus today a co-ed is vice president of the student council; another was managing editor of the "Oberlin Review," undergraduate newspaper, this year; a third is president of the Oberlin Dramatic Association. Many women have taken part in the college band and orchestra, in the Oberlin Peace Society, in the famous mock Democratic Convention of 1932 and in this spring's model of League of Nations.

placed under the superintendence of a judicious lady, whose duty it is to correct their habits and mould the female character. They attend recitations with young gentlemen in all the departments."

All of that, judged by modern collegiate standards, sounds mild enough. But it raised a storm back in the 1830s.

Press and pulpit united to condemn the "Oberlin heresies." The college community was classed as "a destroyer"; Oberlin's "radicalism" was bitterly denounced; "Oberlin sanctification" caused widespread alarm.

Furthermore, Oberlin College had not been satisfied to admit co-eds; it was also accepting negro students. The slave-holding states cursed her roundly for this attitude and de-

BEER WILL BE LEGAL IN ORANGE JULY 17; COUNCIL PLANS STRICT REGULATION

ORANGE, July 7.—Preparing for July 17, the time when the sale of 3.2% beverages becomes legal in the city of Orange, an urgency ordinance further regulating the sales was up for first reading at a meeting of the city council yesterday. The ordinance was introduced by City Attorney H. L. Dearing and adds a number of provisions to the original adopted by the electorate June 27.

The urgency measure will come up for final reading and adoption on July 11. It requires that all of the annual license fee be paid in advance and that the beginning of the fiscal year for such licenses be set on July 1 of each year. License fees will be in proportion if taken out later in the year. Before the fifteenth of each month an additional fee of 50 cents per barrel or fractional part thereof, whether in bottles or other containers must be paid the city.

The reports made under oath before the tenth day of each month must be accurate and failure to comply with the section of the ordinance or to obliterate or to falsify the accounts will be deemed a misdemeanor and the person committing the misdemeanor will be subject to a fine of $300 or three months in jail.

The ordinance further provides that 3.2 beverages may be sold in restaurants, eating places, boarding houses, clubs and hotels with meals served in good faith. The latter phrase to mean the meal must be equal in price to that of the drink and that the food must be eaten and consumed. Drive-in places may serve in the same manner within the premises.

The ordinance provides that if one section of the measure is declared illegal this shall not invalidate the other sections. Places must be equipped to serve food when licenses are issued, it was brought out.

CITY COUNCIL GIVES $50 TO COMPANY HERE

ORANGE, July 7.—At a meeting of the city council yesterday Company L. of the Orange National Guard was granted $50 as an emergency fund when they go into camp the latter part of the month. Max Bothein, mess sergeant, made the request.

Mrs. Oscar Dean and A. H. Helm were reappointed members of the library board, their terms having expired. C. J. Hessel was appointed as an additional member of the park commission with A. H. Helm chairman and Ben Dierker as the other member. Everett Ely, architect of Anaheim, asked for permission to submit drawings for the proposed fire hall and buildings at the city park.

T. H. Elijah, city clerk, brought to the attention of the council that the sum of $11000 remains in the Orange county protection district fund and is in the hands of the county treasurer. It was brought out that the money could not be obtained until new directors of the district were elected, two having moved away.

SEEK FUNDS FOR WELFARE BOARD

ORANGE, July 7.—Appearing before the city council yesterday George Sherwood and W. F. Crist representing the Orange Community welfare board, asked for funds of some sort, for relief work among those not able to work or not having sufficient work to care for their needs. Sherwood stated that there are pitiable cases of need in the city. City Attorney H. L. Dearing stated that as the city operates under a charter of a city of the sixth class no donations may be made to individuals or organizations. No action was taken. It was proposed that the dog tax be donated in some way to welfare work.

COUNCIL GETS PROPOSAL TO SUPPLY POWER

ORANGE, July 7.—A proposition was submitted to the Orange city council yesterday by R. H. Jackson, 235 East Palmyra avenue, for the installation of two Diesel generating sets to furnish power for the city ornamental lighting system and the pumping plant at a cost of $25,000. Jackson proposed to completely install a 174-horsepower engine, a 120-horsepower engine, three panels and two meters and to produce more than enough power for both systems.

Jackson stated that he could hook up the ornamental street lighting system with the generating plant at the water works. In this work 66 poles, 37,444 feet of No. 4 wire and seven transformers would be needed at a cost of $5000, he said.

A savings of $2665 could be made yearly, he said. The cost of purchasing power is one cent per kilowatt.

INCREASING OPTIMISM REPORTED BY CRAEMER

ORANGE, July 7.—Declaring that nearly all of those with whom he came in contact in the middle west and east believe that the bottom of the depression has been reached and that we are over the hump and on the way toward normal conditions, J. F. Craemer gave a talk with an extremely optimistic slant at a meeting of the Orange Rotary club at the Legion clubhouse yesterday.

Craemer returned this week from the national editorial association of which he was president last year. While away he visited a number of states where he found he said, all sorts of roads and greatly varying prices of gasoline, from nine cents to 30 cents. The return of the horse to the fields was noted in many places and this resumption of his place on the farm by this once indispensable farm animal had been the cause of many closed tractor factories, Craemer declared.

Don Smiley, newly installed president, presided for the first time. G. P. Campbell of Santa Ana, was a guest of the club, leaving immediately after the luncheon for Chicago and Milwaukee. He will attend the Elks convention as a delegate in the latter city from the Santa Ana lodge.

Americanization teacher of the Orange Union high school, left this week for Chicago. They are to return through the northern part of the United States and Miss Wanamaker will visit her parents in the state of Washington, while Miss Jones will visit friends in Seattle.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Adams, daughter, Miss Betty Adams, returned yesterday from a trip to the Yosemite.

WATER WORKS PLANT MAY USE ELECTRICITY

ORANGE, July 7.—A plan to convert the Orange city water works into an automatic all electric plant was revealed at the meeting of the city council yesterday by Mayor Clyde A. Watson who made a motion to this effect which was seconded by Councilman A. H. Helm.

The proposal was defeated by the dissenting votes of Councilman Edgar M. Chapman, Ben Dierker and C. J. Hessel. Dierker stated that he would be willing to consider the proposal if the gas engine were left at the plant and not be dismantled as was proposed in the first proposition submitted to the city by the Southern California Edison company.

The second proposition made by the Edison company to the city provided for the retention of the gas engine and the installation by them of a 2000-gallon pump with a year's contract at one cent a kilowatt for power, the same rate which is being paid by the city, which is now paying for power from month to month.

The city plant is equipped with two electric motors at the present time and the gas engine has not been in use during a test period of six months when comparative operating costs of gas and electric power have been made. It was brought out by City Water Superintendent W. J. Richardson that the plant now is partially automatic and that the pumps stop themselves when the reservoir is filled.

The water level in No. 5 well July first was 361 feet and in No. 4 well 197 feet. It was reported that 29,355,000 gallons of water was used by residents of the city during the month of June.

SUPER SHELL IS HIGHER IN ANTI-KNOCK THAN ANY OTHER GASOLINE AT A NON-PREMIUM PRICE

GASEY PARTS—those that evaporate before they burn. Removed by SHELL.

QUICK STARTING PARTS—those that eliminate wasteful "choking." Kept by SHELL.

POWER PARTS—those that give your engine greater pick-up and power. Kept by SHELL.

ANTI-KNOCK PARTS—those that prevent knocking in traffic and on hills. Kept by SHELL.

SLUGGISH PARTS—those that dilute oil. Removed by SHELL.

Until recently Super Shell gasoline sold in the East at premium prices. Then Shell, in its Pacific Coast refineries, produced a new, improved Super Shell to be offered—under the "New Deal"—at the price of ordinary gasolines.

The East has gone wild over it. In city after city, Super Shell has made phenomenal gains.

It is on sale here this week, the identical gasoline. Perhaps you've already heard users talking about its knockless power. Its lively starting and smooth pick-up. Its extra mileage—real premium mileage.

Super Shell is higher in anti-knock than any other gasoline which sells at a non-premium price. In every way it is a better gasoline.

None of the wasteful parts of ordinary gasoline are left in Super Shell. By exclusive refining methods, the half-efficient parts are entirely removed, and only the lively, completely usable parts are blended to make this super fuel. Colored golden for your protection.

FIGHTING FOR FUN
Eddie Eagan of Denver University, Yale, Harvard and Oxford, an amateur fighter all his life and author of "Fighting for Fun," is still in the game for just that—fun. Friends tell me that Eddie has contracted to teach the Russians how to box, and is now in Moscow, looking over the rye fields and the whiskeys.

There is no telling how far Eddie might have gone in professional boxing had he heeded Tex Rickard's urging to put up his dukes for money rather than for fun. It was Gene Tunney who counseled Eddie against turning pro at a time when boxing was in its million-dollar period. Eagan stuck to his books and finally became a member of the New York bar and was married to a daughter of Sidney Colgate (the big father man).

HIS FIRST TEACHER
A cowboy named Abe Tobin taught Eddie to box. Frank Merrill was young Eagan's hero. Eddie won a scholarship at Denver University, and while he was there Jack Dempsey came to town. They boxed an exhibition.

"I was swell-headed enough," says Eddie, "to think I could floor the champion with a punch. I let one go from the floor."

Just after that, Eddie relates, the ceiling fell right in on him.

HELP FROM THE FANS
Jack Sharkey, the most booted man in boxing history, once said, concerning the fight fans:

"Let them boo, I've got their money."

Eddie Eagan's reaction was different. Eddie has known cheers and jeers, and has found inspiration in both. It was such a cheer as "Come on you, Eddie Eagan, fight!" that started Eddie on his way to victory years ago at the Denver Athletic Club. In his book Eddie offers his hand to Flistiana's followers.

"So here's to you, Mr. Fight Fan! I've loved you and I've hated you in all parts of the world. Most of you shout too much. Few of you know what you're talking about. Almost none of you are fighters yourselves."

"You don't know that lonely feeling which comes at times in the ring when you're facing a ruthless opponent charging—you like a tornado or an enraged beast. You've never felt the stinging pain that shoots from the spot where a six-ounce glove, soggy with water and stained with the gore of battle, connects. You've never seen a sudden flaming Arizona sunset flash with a sock to your eye."

"You've never experienced real sensations as the collar of the fight ball cracks wide open overhead, letting in the inky blackness, as a right-hand buff darkens your consciousness. You've never heard the ringing sound and the thunder inside your head, as unnamed stars and comets stud your vision."

"So mostly I ignore you. I've had to win my own fights. At

RATE AMERICAN LEAGUE BETTER THAN NATIONAL

BY JOHN C. HOFFMAN
(I.N.S. Sports Writer)

CHICAGO, July 7.—(INS)—The controversy will go on, perhaps, for time immemorial, but today they have to admit, even if a little reluctantly, that the American league is a better baseball league than the National.

Tomorrow there will be new arguments and a scattering of its and whereas, but today, after yesterday's 4 to 2 victory of the younger circuit's all-star team over a similar gathering of luminaries from the parent league, they're tipping their hats to the Ruths, the Gehrigs, the Simmonses and the Groves.

Not too emphatic, perhaps, is the hat-tipping, because there was but a two-run margin for the American leaguers. And 49,000 gaping customers knew it could have gone the other way. However, what they saw was convincing enough.

Temporarily at least they stopped Simmons and Gehrig, but there still is Babe Ruth, a little older and a little more slow of foot, and "Lefty" Grove, whose fast ball may not be the first brand of yesterday, to conjure up the advantage.

It was this same lumbering bulk of a Ruth, the home run king of an era that is fast slipping away, who supplied the touch that was sufficient unto the occasion. Never a disappointment on occasions where supermen are required, the Babe rapped a four-bagger into the right field pavilion with one on in the third. And this was exactly the margin of victory.

If not that, then perhaps it was Grove's last three innings of pitching that the American leaguers needed, or it may have been the cunning of a Connie Mack, who didn't forget to save Grove for the finish and who remembered to put Sam West in right field in the ninth so he could catch a drive by Berger that wouldn't have been caught by Ruth.

CLEVELAND PLAYER DENIES GIRL CHARGE

CHICAGO, July 7.—(INS)—Harvey Boss, first baseman for the Cleveland Indians, will go to bat before an audience of jurors—here today.

Boss will deny the story of his love-making technique as related by Lillian Eloise Mitchell, pretty 22-year-old brunette of Winston-Salem, N. C., who is suing him for $50,000, according to his attorney.

Miss Mitchell, a divorcee, has testified that she visited Boss at his apartment in Cleveland at his invitation.

"We had some beer," she said, "and then I told him I had to go home. He said, 'You're going to stay all night.' I began to cry."

She said Boss threatened to "knock her black off" if she didn't stop whimpering.

"I screamed," she said, "and he hit me hard."

She testified that he gave her a black eye and loosened her teeth, before allowing her to leave the apartment.

WOOD, SHUTE TIE IN 'OPEN' Vines Loses Wimbledon Title

JACK CRAWFORD WINS FURIOUS 5-SET BATTLE

WIMBLEDON, Eng., July 7.—(UP)—Ellsworth Vines of California failed in his quest for a second successive Wimbledon tennis championship today when he was defeated 4-6, 11-9, 6-2, 2-6, 6-4, by Jack Crawford, Australian Davis Cup star.

The match was played on the famed center court, under a blistering sun and before a crowd that taxed the spacious stands to capacity.

Crawford's victory was interpreted to mean that Australia, and not America, is likely to gain the Davis Cup challenge round.

Australia and England will meet America for the right to challenge for the cup.

Former King Alfonso of Spain, Princess Juliana of Holland and the British princesses, Marie Louise and Victoria, were among the spectators.

The German team of Van Cramm and Hilda Krahwinkel gained the final round of the mixed doubles with a 6-3, 8-6 victory over the English combination of Charles Kingsley and Mrs. Kitty Godfree.

In a quarter final mixed doubles match Norman Farquharson of South Africa and Mary Heeley of England, defeated Ryuki Miki of Japan and Dorothy Round of England, 10-8, 6-3.

America placed a representative in the final of the women's doubles when Elizabeth Ryan of California and London, and Mme. Rene Mathieu of France, defeated the British team of Mrs. Elsie Pittman and Joan Ridley, 6-1, 4-6, 6-4.

Primo Carnera, who seems to have won the heavyweight championship while nobody was watching, declared himself today while discussing life, love and the pursuit of living. He seemed very positive on the point. "I might be the influence of the lady in London who was misunderstood for $14,000 but I decided to bring the matter up some other time when the street level was handier and, besides, he claims he's not disillusioned; only more resolute. I'm not quite sure, but I think he said something about giving too much and getting too little."

As he said this, he rifled a sheaf of letters from people he doesn't know and never before heard of; hundreds of bright, cheerful, cadging men, women, children and perhaps a poor, bewildered chorus girl who has a heart of gold and is saving up to send her father and mother through Harvard. He dismissed them all with a nod.

"They're trying to spend my money before I get it," he said, briefly.

There are, it seems, some things he plans to do. One of them is to fight Pauline or somebody in Rome this year if the Garden will let him. The Garden won't. Another is to save some money.

A third is to get some money. His agents are out now trying to do some business with the vaudeville people at the rate of $10,000 a week. If the vaudeville people had $10,000 a week, they'd expect the governor to call out the militia to ride home with them on dark nights.

Anyhow, after he gets some money, he plans to settle down in America, and spend it where he made it. He may even become an American citizen, although he's not prepared to go into that now. I judge he feels that he ought to ask Mussolini first.

But marry? Don't make him laugh and show those adenoids. Schmeling did it yesterday, yes. Dempsey did it some years ago. So did Tunney when he quit fighting. As for Sharkey, he married first and really started fighting after that, which may have been the natural order, at that. Anyhow, Primo Carnera won't.

The Santa Ana Elks today swarmed into first place in the Santa Ana City Night Baseball league as the aftermath of starting developments at the Municipal Bowl last night.

Defeating the United Presbyterians, 12-6, the B. P. O. E. nine slipped into the lead when the First Baptists unexpectedly won from the First National bank, 6-4. The Elks now are the only team in the wheel with less than two defeats.

President Kenneth Morrison and Secretary Lloyd Banks announced that the Elks would play Bachman's garage next Thursday at 7 p. m. Hoffman's Bakery and Weber's Bakery will collide at 8. These games, both postponed affairs, may definitely determine the champion. If the Elks win, they can't lose the pennant.

The setback of the First National bank was the season's major upset. A four-run rally in the fifth gave the Baptists victory. The Elks had little trouble beating the U. P. squad, piling up a big lead in the first four frames.

CARNERA SHUNS MARRIAGE; MAY BECOME CITIZEN

By DAVIS J. WALSH
(I. N. S. Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, July 7.—It's no use, girls. You'll simply have to let your secret from the world, never letting it guess that under the brave smile a heart is grieved and hurt. You'll just have to give him up.

Primo Carnera, who seems to have won the heavyweight championship while nobody was watching, declared himself today while discussing life, love and the pursuit of living. MICKY WALKER IS GIVEN BAD BEATING

BOSTON, July 7.—(INS)—Trail's end was in sight today for Mickey Walker.

The former middleweight and welterweight champion took a terrific beating last night before 16,000 fans in Boston Garden from Lou Brouillard, Worcester southpaw.

Although outweighed nine pounds, Brouillard was the aggressor throughout and won eight of the ten rounds.

Walker showed his old-time form in the fourth and fifth rounds but his margins were slight.

There were no knockdowns, but Mickey's courage and stamina saved him in the seventh when Lou caught the Jersey boxer with a hard left to the body. A left to the heart in the ninth also staggered Walker.

Desperate in the tenth round, Walker tried for a knockout but his wild-swinging only resulted in Lou showering him with blows throughout the entire round. Walker was almost pathetic in this session.

Walker weighed 170, Brouillard 161.

Brouillard has signed to meet Ben Jeby, New York, recognized in New York state as middleweight champion, for an August date in New York.

MICKY FINN OF PHILLIES PASSES AWAY

ALLENTOWN, Pa., July 7.—(UP)—Neal (Mickey) Finn, second baseman of the Philadelphia National league baseball club, died in the Sacred Heart hospital today.

He was operated on last week for ulcers of the stomach. After showing improvement he suffered a relapse today.

Finn came up to the major leagues from the Missions club of the Pacific Coast league.

CARNERA SHUNS MARRIAGE; MAY BECOME CITIZEN

By DAVIS J. WALSH
(I. N. S. Sports Editor)

NEW YORK, July 7.—It's no use, girls. You'll simply have to let your secret from the world, never letting it guess that under the brave smile a heart is grieved and hurt. You'll just have to give him up.

Primo Carnera, who seems to have won the heavyweight championship while nobody was watching, declared himself today while discussing life, love and the pursuit of living. He seemed very positive on the point. "I might be the influence of the lady in London who was misunderstood for $14,000 but I decided to bring the matter up some other time when the street level was handier and, besides, he claims he's not disillusioned; only more resolute. I'm not quite sure, but I think he said something about giving too much and getting too little."

As he said this, he rifled a sheaf of letters from people he doesn't know and never before heard of; hundreds of bright, cheerful, cadging men, women, children and perhaps a poor, bewildered chorus girl who has a heart of gold and is saving up to send her father and mother through Harvard. He dismissed them all with a nod.

"They're trying to spend my money before I get it," he said, briefly.

There are, it seems, some things he plans to do. One of them is to fight Pauline or somebody in Rome this year if the Garden will let him. The Garden won't. Another is to save some money.

A third is to get some money. His agents are out now trying to do some business with the vaudeville people at the rate of $10,000 a week. If the vaudeville people had $10,000 a week, they'd expect the governor to call out the militia to ride home with them on dark nights.

Anyhow, after he gets some money, he plans to settle down in America, and spend it where he made it. He may even become an American citizen, although he's not prepared to go into that now. I judge he feels that he ought to ask Mussolini first.

But marry? Don't make him laugh and show those adenoids. Schmeling did it yesterday, yes. Dempsey did it some years ago. So did Tunney when he quit fighting. As for Sharkey, he married first and really started fighting after that, which may have been the natural order, at that. Anyhow, Primo Carnera won't.

MICKY WALKER IS GIVEN BAD BEATING

BOSTON, July 7.—(INS)—Trail's end was in sight today for Mickey Walker.

The former middleweight and welterweight champion took a terrific beating last night before 16,000 fans in Boston Garden from Lou Brouillard, Worcester southpaw.

Although outweighed nine pounds, Brouillard was the aggressor throughout and won eight of the ten rounds.

Walker showed his old-time form in the fourth and fifth rounds but his margins were slight.

There were no knockdowns, but Mickey's courage and stamina saved him in the seventh when Lou caught the Jersey boxer with a hard left to the body. A left to the heart in the ninth also staggered Walker.

STARS BATTLE FULLERTON AT BOWL TONIGHT

Completely reorganized since their last appearance here, Fullerton's tailed Hawks invade the Municipal Bowl tonight to play Santa Ana in the next-to-last game of the National league's first-half schedule.

Glenn Udyke succeeded Herb Salveson as manager of the up-country battalion early last week, and introduced a number of new faces to Fullerton's lineup. Since he took charge, the Hawks beat Whittier but lost to Anaheim and Torrance.

Fullerton's pitching staff is composed of Jim Sultenfuss, a "sinker" specialist, and Bill Roberts, Fullerton City leaguer, who did pretty well in his inaugural outing against Torrance Wednesday, especially at bat. He cracked two home runs.

Roberts is tentatively scheduled to start against the Stars tonight, with Bill Jewett catching. Jim Jewett plays first base, "Mutt" Dauser second, Reno third and Roger short, all but Dauser of this infield being newcomers to the club. The veteran Wayne Nelson, former Santa Anaan, plays left field, with Sam Miller in center and Murphy in right. Nelson beat his ex-teammates with an eleventh inning single the last time the teams collided.

Wilbur Stinchfield will pitch for Santa Ana, according to Manager "Eeny" Wilcox. An injured knee may keep Wilcox on the bench again, in which case versatile Ed Daley will do the receiving and George Preble will play first base and Joe Koral second. Tommy Young, who leaves next week for a two-week vacation in the north, will be at third, flanked by Shorty "Memphy" Hill. Denney and Ballard will be in left and center fields, with "Chub" Sears slated to start in right if he has sufficiently recovered from a tooth infection.

The Torrance-Olive and Huntington Beach-Whittier games get the most attention tonight. Torrance, already assured of a tie, can definitely clinch the pennant by whipping Olive even if Huntington Beach should win both of its remaining starts. Anaheim and Westminster mingle at Anaheim.

THE STANDINGS:

Team	W.	L.	Pct.
Torrance	14	5	.737
Huntington Beach	14	5	.737
Anaheim	10	9	.526
Westminster	8	10	.444
Whittier	8	11	.421
Olive	8	11	.421
Santa Ana	4	15	.211

MANAGERS OPPOSE HOIST IN ADMISSION RATE

The National Night league's board of managers was on record today as opposing an increased admission rate of 10 cents a person for the second-half of the split season which gets under way next Friday.

Torrance and Santa Ana were not represented, but proponents of the 25-cent tariff mustered only the support of Olive and Huntington Beach, so the suggestion died without coming to a vote.

The meeting was brief, the managers adjourning in time to attend the Orange County Athletic club's boxing show as guests of the management.

ANAHEIM SIGNS COGGAN OUTFIELDER NORTON

Anaheim today announced the acquisition of Pitcher Russ Coggan and Outfielder Billy Norton.

Coggan, a pitcher, was with Fullerton until last week. Before that he had experience with Arlington, Anaheim, and Torrance. He will replace Deane Downer, a twirler Anaheim signed after his release by Whittier. Norton is a hard-hitting outfielder who also formerly belonged to Whittier. He will be in the Valencia's lineup tonight.

IRVINE BEATS S. A. IN 1-0 MOUND DUEL

Santa Ana's Green Cats limped across the finish line today as undisputed champion of the Orange County Night Ball league, but slightly chastened as a result of their first shutout defeat last night. They were blanked at Irvine, 1-0, in a brilliant pitcher's battle between Lyle Morse and George Stevens.

Sears, Irvine outfielder, scored the only run of the game in the seventh. He walked, went to second and third on fielder's choices, scored on a wild pitch.

Santa Ana starts its second-half Monday night, playing Anaheim's Flying A's at the Municipal Bowl.

MILLS DEFEATS QUARLES, GIVES DELHI VICTORY

Putting on the pressure in the second round, Nat Mills won a spirited main event from "Pony" Quarles of the U. S. S. Lexington and gave the Orange County Athletic club the deciding match of a Navy-Delhi team match here last night.

Coming up the final spot, the sailors had four decisions and the Santa Ana amateurs four, so the Mills-Quarles struggle was destined to determine the third and last "tournament" between the squads.

Inspired, Mills tore into Quarles with everything he had. He met a worthy, rugged, game foe in Quarles but Mills was enough faster and stronger to receive the unanimous decision of Referee Kim Pratt, and Judges Lee Boyle and Chief Officer Bryan of the Lexington. Mills won the first round by a narrow margin and took the second decisively, having the gob on the verge of a knockout at least twice. They waged a desperate third round which Nat won by a split. The decision was a mere formality.

Unable to muster a suitable opponent for Light Heavy Jack Campbell, Matchmaker Kid Mexico used Campbell against another Lexington sailor, Jack Lytell, in the semi-final. Lytell won a close fight.

DELHI'S darling, Doyle Richards, had a tartar in the special event and lost all three rounds and the verdict to the tough sailor, "Cup-Cup" Rutkuriz. Richards was outclassed but made a game showing.

Anaheim's Paul Garcia had Sailor Archie Vanucelo on the run until he tired in the last round and nearly got his head blown off by the tar's fast finish. The judges gave Archie the decision.

The surprising Vic Orsco took a tough fight from Sailor "Whitey" Barnett, stepping inside the gob's punches and landing many at close quarters. He had Barnett down in the last round for a brief count.

Paul Brown outboxed Mesa Mateo decisively but failed to stop the Lexington punching bag, "Bud" McCarter, way down in the preliminaries, outlugged Gunner Harris, dropping Harris for a long count in the last heat. Bill Wana decided Tony Lopez. "Sluggo" Trowbridge of the navy stopped Art Hernandez in two. "Speedy" Abueg took the first one from Ken Mayakum.

Pat Gillen won a decision from Tony Tullio in an extra bout. The U. S. S. Saratoga will send an all-fleet team here next Thursday.

County To Finance $60,000 July Relief Work Program

COMMISSION TO HANDLE FUNDS IS APPOINTED

Following a conference with County Welfare Director B. V. Curry yesterday afternoon the appointment of three members of the County Welfare commission to administer state, county and federal relief funds. It was also announced the county will finance the July work relief program with a $60,000 appropriation.

Prominent county residents appointed to the commission were: Mrs. R. G. Tuttle, Santa Ana; J. K. McDonald, Huntington Beach; and Oscar Heying, Anaheim. Mrs.

Tuttle will represent the southern section of the county, Heying will represent the northern part of the county while McDonald will represent the coast area.

Following appointment of the committee the supervisors announced that the July work relief program will be financed through an appropriation of county funds. The county, however, will be reimbursed when state and federal funds are available. It is anticipated.

Start Work Thursday

The supervisors will appropriate $60,000 for the carrying on of the county's relief program for July and workers will start on the various approved projects next Thursday. Assignments will be started Monday.

R. C. Branion, emergency relief administrator for California, several days ago notified Curry that federal funds probably would be available for the carrying on of the county program. Yesterday Curry received word that no funds would be available until the state and county machinery for administering funds under the recently approved $20,000,000 state bond issue had been established.

Branion informed Curry that the county, however, could finance the program for the month and be reimbursed. It is expected that the program, under the Federal Emergency Relief Act of 1933 and the $20,000,000 state relief bond issue, will be ready to function by August 1.

Conference Today

Chairman Willard Smith of the board of supervisors, Supervisor William C. Jerome and Curry are leaving today for Santa Barbara where they will meet Branion who is en route to Washington, D. C., for a conference with national directors of the relief act.

All angles of the county problem, details of machinery set up for administration of relief funds and the scope of the program will be presented to Branion who in turn will present these facts to the national administrators of the fund. Upon his return from Washington, Branion will inform the county board of all details relative to handling state and federal relief funds.

In appointing the County Welfare commission it was announced that this body would work with Curry in directing the work relief program under state and federal aid and with a similar commission appointed by Gov. James Rolph for administration of the state funds derived from the $20,000,000 bond issue. Branion will supersede the various county committees in authority.

Includes Dependents

Coincident with the announcement that the county will finance the July work relief program came the announcement by Curry that the work program would be broadened through return to the old program of assigning workers in proportion to the number of dependents in their families.

A married worker will receive eight days work with one day additional for each additional member of the family. Work was assigned on this basis in May and changed to six days flat last month when funds available under the R. F. C. program were reduced.

Curry also announced a return

TRAGEDY MARS AIR ARMADA LANDING

The first hop of Italy's air armada to Chicago was marred by tragedy when the I Dini, one of the 25 seaplanes in the flight, crashed at Amsterdam, killing one and injuring three members of the crew. In this picture, which was rushed to London by air and transmitted by radio to New York, the injured are shown being pulled from the overturned fuselage.

FOURTH, MAIN BUILDING AT HALFWAY MARK

Expecting to be installed in their new building at Fourth and Main streets by September 15, officials and employees of the Montgomery Ward store are watching the progress of the construction work as the three-story structure is rushed to completion.

Thermon Means, general contractor, estimated today that the work was about half finished and that he would have no difficulty in finishing by September 15. E. L. Lucas, manager, declared that it would take about three weeks of fitting and inside work before trade could be welcomed in the new store.

Exterior stone work on the building is up to the second floor and will be finished as soon as the roof is completed, work on which will start within 10 days. A temporary roof will be built at first to protect the interior and allow the walls to be finished. Finishing touches on the steel framework will be made next week, Means declared.

Lathing and plastering will also begin next week and continue for about a month. The work will begin at the third floor and proceed to the basement. About 50 men are now employed in the various trades and full crews will be used to finish the building on schedule.

The new building, being built by Mrs. Emma French at a cost of about $80,000, will give the Montgomery Ward store about 50 per cent more floor space and offer employment for at least 20 new employees. Lucas stated today, however, that no applications for the new help would be accepted until after August 1.

The first floor will be used for general men's and women's furnishings, the mezzanine will feature complete fashions, the second floor will handle furniture and electrical supplies and the third floor will be used for warehouse and storage purposes. The basement will be used for hardware supplies. At least five large departments will be added to the store and many smaller features. The building is of fireproof construction.

LARGE CROWD ENJOYS FIRST BAND CONCERT

Playing to an enthusiastic crowd of listeners last evening, the Santa Ana Municipal band under the direction of D. C. Clanton opened its summer season of 19 Thursday evening concerts in Birch park with a varied and colorful program.

The march "American Spirit" by Biglione started off the program on a lively note, to be followed by the overture by Suppe, "Post and Peasant." This favorite of music-lovers the world over was well received by the audience. Next followed the selection from Victor Herbert's opera, "The Fortune Teller." This selection combined in a beautiful hand arrangement, all the favorite numbers, both solo and ensemble, from this tuneful and masterly opera.

The audience responded so well to the following number, Beethoven's "Minuet in G," the delicate quality of which was beautifully interpreted, that it was rewarded by the brilliant performance of the "Quartette" from "Rigoletto" by Verdi, as an encore number.

The arrangement by Clanton of a grand selection of popular songs of the period of about 1917 appealed greatly to the audience. A great number of these delightful old songs were blended together into a medley of wide appeal to those who remember when these songs were currently popular. The tuneful Spanish serenade "La Paloma" by Yradier was followed by that grand waltz of all waltzes, the "Blue Danube," by Johann Strauss. The program closed again at a spirited pace with the playing of the march "Chicago Marine Band" by Brooks.

Calavo Growers Begin Campaign

Growers' service committees of the Calavo Growers Exchange will soon begin the optimistic sign-up to secure additional participants for the avocado growers' cooperative marketing program next season. Any grower may enter now, for a short time only. The growers' committees are greatly enthused over the many non-cooperative growers applying and entering just lately, and by the actual or assured return of most of the few important withdrawals. Those not rescinding their recent withdrawals, by post-card or letter post-marked not later than Saturday, July 15, will be ineligible to return to the advantage and security of the growing group program for an entire year, it is announced.

Double Wedding Takes Place in Local Church

Double weddings have always been of special romantic interest, but the ceremony which joined in marriage Miss Bethel Teter and Paul Baker, and Miss Lella Dozier and Ralph Teter, all of Santa Ana, bore marked significance, in that brother and sister were participating in the same services.

The vows were exchanged Sunday afternoon, July 2, at 2 o'clock in the Church of the Brethren, where more than 50 relatives and friends had gathered. Officiating minister was the Rev. Fred Flora, pastor. The auditorium was banked with flowers, and the four young people stood before a large archway of fragrant blooms.

Preceding the ceremony, Miss Ada Teter of Santa Ana sang "At Dawning" and Miss Alta Mae Teter offered "I Love You Truly," with both soloists being accompanied at the piano by Ray Baker, brother of one of the bridegrooms. He also played the Lohengrin Wedding March, to which the bride party entered, and the recessional.

Both brides were unattended and were dressed in identical fashion, with the exception of the color of their gowns. Miss Teter wore blue crepe. Miss Dozier was gown in peach crepe. Both had chosen small white turbans and shower bouquets of white roses.

Following the service, a reception was held in the dining room of the church. Wedding cake and ice cream were served by the Misses Gladys and Vera Flora, Alberta Hoover and Ruth Dunlap, after which the newly-married couples left the church in a shower of rice.

Mr. Teter and the new Mrs. Baker are the son and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Teter, 1035 West Walnut street. Mr. Baker is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvan Baker, 914 West First street, and Miss Dozier is the daughter of Mrs. Mamie Eastman of Santa Ana.

Mrs. Baker was graduated from the Garden Grove high school after coming here from Nebraska, while her husband attended the Santa Ana high school. Mr. Teter received his schooling in Nebraska and his bride attended Tustin Union high school. Both young men are engaged in the construction business.

A surprise party for the newlyweds was held Monday night in the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Teter. A large party of friends gathered at the nearby home of Mr. Baker's parents, and then proceeded to the Teter home. Mrs. Ray Cooney had arranged the affair.

Engagement News Made Known at Luncheon In Orange

A lovely luncheon yesterday afternoon in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Cummings, Walnut road, Orange, served to announce the engagement of a daughter of the home, Miss Julia Beaumont Cummings, to James Williams, now of Arden, Nevada.

Mrs. Cummings had bidden an intimate group of friends to her home for the delightful luncheon and its accompanying romantic feature. Guests found their places at a large table appointed in soft pink and rose hues. Flowers in pretty variety were combined in an effective centerpiece. At each place were corsage bouquets of roses and baby gladioluses, tied with silver ribbons. To these were attached tiny cards which proved to be the bearers of the engagement news. No date was announced for the approaching marriage of the young people.

Guests spent the afternoon informally, hemming tea towels for the bride-to-be.

It has been but a few weeks since Miss Cummings returned home for the summer from Arden, Nevada, where she has been teaching since her graduation some time ago from the University of Nevada. She had her earlier studies at Santa Ana junior college.

Mr. Williams, whose home is in Minden, Alabama, is maintenance manager of the Blue Diamond Mine at Arden, Nev.

LIONS ANNUAL SWIM WILL BE HELD SUNDAY

LAGUNA BEACH, July 7.—The largest field in the history of the event is expected to start in the third annual Lions club rough water swim to be staged here Sunday. Leroy F. Walden, secretary of the club, who with former President A. R. Burns, is managing the affair, estimates that 32 will face the starting gun at Emerald bay at 11 a. m.

Men and women start at the same time. The winner of the race will receive the trophy donated by the Emerald Bay corporation, a handsome silver cup. A like trophy, given by J. H. Smith of the Coast Inn will go to the swimmer finishing second. The Lions club cup goes to the first woman finishing, providing she has not won first or second place. Last year Miss Roscoe finished in fourteenth place.

The Lions club committee has arranged for a number of boats to follow the swimmers and to patrol the two-mile course laid out by A. J. Stead, immediate past president of the club. The start will be on the beach at Emerald bay and the finish will be at the lifeguard tower on the central beach in this city. SAN CLEMENTE TAXPAYERS ORGANIZE LEAGUE; ELECT OFFICERS; ADOPT BY-LAWS

SAN CLEMENTE, July 7.—San Clemente Taxpayers' league was organized at a meeting of property owners in the city hall Wednesday night. This resulted from a previous meeting that was called June 26, when E. L. Holloway, chairman, appointed a committee headed by B. H. Latham to draw up by-laws for such an organization. These were adopted and signed as members by those present Wednesday night, forming a permanent league.

E. L. Holloway was elected president; Mrs. P. W. Smith, vice president; William Holmes, secretary and treasurer. Meetings will be held the second Friday of every month in the city hall at 8 p. m.

The purpose of the league as stated by the president is "not an antagonistic organization, but a helpful one, to work with and advise with the council on questions of importance to taxpayers."

An executive committee of nine members was elected: Mrs. P. W. Smith, B. H. Latham, Mrs. Emma Servus, Trafford Hutson, Roy Strang, J. C. Henderson, H. H. Cotton, T. C. Bowles and Mrs. Stowell.

The golf course committee appointed by the chair includes P. W. Smith, Ole Hanson, A. E. Adair, A. Gajski and R. R. Divil. The membership committee also was appointed including William Meisch, Mrs. Robert Smith, Charles Anderson, Miss Olive Sherrard and Mrs. T. C. Bowles.

Two important questions are before the league that have been referred to it by the city council. The first is a plan submitted in the form of a resolution by Councilman Robertson for lowering the present maintenance cost of the municipal golf course.

The second was the matter of securing a loan from the California allotment, presented by City Engineer W. A. Ayers, who at the request of the council made a list of projects on which a loan could be used. The one of first importance would be a sufficient amount to complete the installation of new water pipes, covering either the entire city area or the section where buildings are erected, according to the amount that could be secured. This will be taken up at once by the executive committee.

Buttermilk M. O. mayonnaise
Berries or fresh sliced peaches.
1 tsp. sugar
Clear tea, no sugar.
Calory total 380.

These who use these slimming menus may wonder why food is so never mentioned: the reason is that the amount of SUGAR used to make the food palatable would nullify the good results expected from this menu for at least two days.

Sugar is a concentrated source of energy. In slimming down you must forgo these foods and force the body to give up its banked fat to provide for energy needs over ordinary demands.

Puffy Omelette With Spanish Filling

1 egg for each person served
2 tsp. milk for each egg
Salt and pepper to taste.
Separate yolks and whites, beat the whites to the fluffy stage, transfer the beater to the yolks and milk and mix well. Whip the yolk part into the whites, season, and turn into a hot buttered skillet. Brown over the flame, then finish in a hot oven. Spread with the Spanish filling and fold over. Serve immediately.

For the Spanish Filling take fresh or canned tomato, a large onion and green pepper. Run the two through the chopper, add to the tomato with 2 tbs. butter, salt, pepper, cayenne and paprika. Cook slowly.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Apricot Ice
1/2 cups apricot pulp
1/2 cups sugar
1/2 cups water
1/2 cup lemon juice
2 whipped egg whites.
Canned, fresh, or dried apricots may be used: if dried ones are your choice, wash, soak them, and cook to a mush, then force through a sieve. The last rule applies to all three. The pulp must be smooth.
Combine sugar and water and boil ten minutes to make a syrup. Cool the syrup, add lemon juice

AN EASY-TO-MAKE PATTERN

Pattern 1503

By ANNE ADAMS

Of all the darling cape collars we've seen this season, this one merits the most attention. Note how gracefully it flares when fashioned of a beautiful Summer sheer... a colorful floral motif would be our choice in voiles, chiffon, lawn, etc. The deep point of the yoke is in keeping with the slender skirt seaming... the silhouette is slim with accepted broad shoulders. Surprisingly easy to make, too.

Pattern 1503 may be ordered only in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32. Size 16 requires 2 3/4 yards 39-inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included with pattern.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly your name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE WANTED.

THE NEW SUMMER EDITION OF THE ANNE ADAMS PATTERN BOOK IS READY. Afternoon, sports, golf, tennis dresses, jumpers, house frocks, special beginners' patterns, styles for juniors, and cool clothes for youngsters, and instructions for making a chic sweater are among the fascinating items. SEND FOR YOUR COPY. PRICE OF CATALOG FIFTEEN CENTS. CATALOG AND PATTERN TOGETHER TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

Address all mail orders to The Register Pattern Department.

THE WEEKLY PANTRY SHELF

Week-end MURDER by GABRIELLE FORBUSH

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Amos Peabody, elderly cousin of Linda Averill, falls to his death from the second story balcony of the Averill Long Island home. Linda reaches him just before he dies, in time to hear him gasp a few words which convince her he was murdered. Linda rushes upstairs. Someone tries to strangle her and she falls in a faint.

There are four guests in the house—all suspects of the crime. They are: Mr. Statlander, business associate of Tom Averill; Captain De Vos, handsome Belgian; Marvin Pratt, former suitor of Linda's; and Lian Shaughnessy, Irish writer. When Linda tells her husband what happened she persuades him they must keep these four men in the house until they can decide which one is guilty. There is no evidence sufficient for arrest. Tom and Linda are aided in their plan when Dr. Boyle, official medical examiner, sends word that everyone must remain until he has questioned them. Boyle is on a fishing trip and can not return for several hours.

Linda overhears a conversation between Shaughnessy and Rosie, the maid, concerning a shirt Rosie has promised to launder. Later she discovers the towel with which the attempt was made to strangle her. She identifies it as sunburn ointment which she had rubbed on her shoulders. The towel was in a hamper in Statlander's bathroom. Tom sees Rosie carrying a package to Statlander's quarters and goes to have a look at that package. He is interrupted.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXVIII

"Fleur, you're a life saver. We can't leave here, you see—and I don't want them to be too bored! You'll bring Dolly? Grand! Make it as soon as you can and then if Dr. Boyle's come meanwhile you can have your game after he's through. Thanks awfully. Goodbye." Linda turned to Tom, standing at her elbow.

"They'll come."

"Try to keep Fleur away! You mentioned who would enjoy a game of contract."

"Don't be cynical," Linda lowered her voice. "Quick, Tom—tell me now what happened."

He looked quickly about him.

"Guess it's safe. I was stopped before I had a chance to do much." He hastily told her of the shirt and Rosie's labored little note.

"Heavens, Tom! You must get over there and open that bundle!"

"Of course I must. But though Shaughnessy doesn't seem in any hurry to go back, he has drifted out by the kitchen door—I could see his cigarette light there while you were telephoning—and my approach is shut off. If we can get him back in the house—"

"Or out on the front lawn."

"Yes, that would be perfect. Well, what's the rest of the program?"

"Fleur and Dolly Alger are coming over to play contract with Marvin and Mr. DeVos. That settles them for the evening."

"I shouldn't think Pratt would play bridge, somehow."

"He likes it—discipline for the mind and all that. Takes it very seriously. Then, too, I think he was rather smitten with the little Alger girl last night."

"Attraction of opposites," commented Tom. "Of all light-headed bits of fluff! How about the others?"

"I plan to talk to Mr. Statlander—that's my main object now."

"If he knows anything incriminating—on himself or anyone else—he can be counted on to resist pumping like grim death. That leaves Shaughnessy for me."

"You want to get him before he knows the shirt is back?"

"If I can, it's my best weapon to force him to talk if he won't do it by persuasion."

At a slight noise behind them, they both whirled guiltily around. Very near them, on the rug which muffled the sound of his steps—or had he merely approached them very cautiously?—stood the mid-westerner. He made no attempt to hide the fact that he had been trying to catch what they said.

"Telephone anything?" he snapped.

"No—oh, no!" Linda caught his meaning. It was telephoning. It wasn't an incoming call, Mr. Statlander. Mr. Pratt and Mr. DeVos are to play bridge, you know. Incidentally, Tom, you might see that the table is ready and get out fresh cards and other things."

"Hmp! Bridge—bridge—bridge! If all the time that was wasted—However, that's their affair. I thought perhaps it was your—medical examiner."

"No, there's no word from him yet."

Looking decidedly perplexed, Tom had left her to go into the drawing room. Linda wondered why the glance of half-reproach, half-exasperation, he had cast in her direction. Then a flash of enlightenment overwhelmed her. Of course—he was intent on getting over to the garage and in her anxiety to get Mr. Statlander to herself she had stupidly forced him to move away from his post of vantage by the door from which he could watch until the coast was clear.

She sighed as she dropped into a chair. Her stupidity about Tom oppressed her. Perhaps she had spoiled everything. Suddenly, violently, she wished that Boyle would come—that he would dismiss them all and that they would go away and she need never see them again. It was too hot to solve mysteries. It was too hot to care! The moment of near-hysteria passed but she saw the manager of the western factory studying her darkly, with an intent regard that might mean anything. It did mean, she feared, that she had offended him by her inattention. Well, that must not happen again. What would

She looked at him in some astonishment. And in the silence she heard the ripple of gravel, the whispered purr of an almost noiseless engine, and visualized the stop before her door of the gorgeous Etouner car. Then she hardened her heart. Tom—poor Tom, caught in the net of sociability!—could meet their guests. After all, he had probably lost his chance to get over to the garage and she was not going to lose hers with Statlander who was just well started.

"As office manager of the western plant—" The curt, didactic voice went on and while she listened respectfully she also contrived to hear the succession of small sounds—light laughter, the murmur of masculine voices, the rustle of movement into the suddenly lighted drawing room telling her the play was about to begin without her assistance. "I have had to meet many emergencies," Statlander went on. "Once a small explosion and fire, when my drill saved the lives of a number of employees. We maintain a small, well-equipped hospital, where accidents and cases of sudden illness are very well handled."

"Yes?" said Linda politely, mentally observing that illness or accident was something to be "handled" with thoroughly business-like efficiency.

"Yes, I know that, in the case of a faint such as yours this morning, the victim should be laid out prone, but with the heels higher than the head."

"I've read that somewhere," murmured Linda helpfully.

"It's the best medical practice recommended for first aid treatment. Now I was entirely willing to take charge of this morning—give you the benefit of my experience—but my suggestion that I do this was passed over without any reply at all by Mr. Pratt. Simply because he got there first, he seemed to think he could do as he wished. He insisted upon trying to help you stand when you were evidently not able to do so. As far as I could see the correct method of reviving you were ignored."

"It was awfully good of you to take so much interest," said Linda meekly—almost too meekly, she feared, until she saw him relax into a frosty smile. A stiff grimace it was, but meant for a smile.

"I wish I'd known you were so—such an expert," she said softly. "You've been too modest, Mr. Statlander. I knew you were a marvelous business executive but I didn't realize you were so many-sided. Still, a person who's efficient in big things usually is in small ones, too."

He visibly melted. "That's one way of looking at it! I'd have been glad to talk about your case and that of your uncle with the doctor but there was no chance except when others were present."

"You—" she hardly knew how to phrase it but she wanted to speak quickly. "You thought—about Cousin Amos (he was my cousin, not my uncle)"

"Ah, yes. The other relationship seemed more natural with a man so much older than you. I should have liked to have been there when the body was examined. It would have been—very interesting!"

interest him? His business, of course. All men liked to talk business and this "fiend for charts and graphs" should especially rise to it. She plunged eagerly into a question about the fall campaign and hardly noticed that the frown only grew heavier.

"I make it a rule never to discuss office matters with outsiders," he said shortly, and looked surprised when for very astonishment she laughed aloud.

"In a way," she explained, "it is my business, too. I met my husband while I was doing some special work for Valeria and since we've been married and lived here she has asked us to entertain a great many of the visitors to her New York office. I can't help hearing a lot of the shop talk and because I've worked for her myself I'm naturally interested."

A grunt was her only reply, but now she felt at ease and found no difficulty in proceeding directly to the subject uppermost in her mind.

"We're both so sorry that your stay has been overshadowed by the accident this morning. Tom to you and he's had so little. I'm wanted plenty of free time to talk afraid things have been very much upset all around but I hope you've been at least fairly comfortable and that you're not forcing yourself to stay against your wishes. I'd like you to do just what you most prefer, so please be honest with me."

"I don't pretend what I don't feel," he replied coldly, and she felt she had again unintentionally offended him. But she reflected that since she apparently had a special gift for irritating this particular person, she was forced to simply go ahead, as best she might, and disregard it. So she smiled amiably and went on as though he had not spoken.

"I want to thank you for helping out this morning. Tom said you volunteered to do anything he wanted or needed. It was a terrible thing and we appreciated the way you all offered to help."

"Hmp! Well, Mrs. Averill, frankly, that—incident was to my mind badly handled; very badly handled indeed."

She looked at him in some astonishment. And in the silence she heard the ripple of gravel, the whispered purr of an almost noiseless engine, and visualized the stop before her door of the gorgeous Etouner car. Then she hardened her heart. Tom—poor Tom, caught in the net of sociability!—could meet their guests. FUN FOR THE WHOLE FAMILY

THE TINYMITES

STORY BY MAL COCHRAN—PICTURES BY KING

"Course Scouty's loop trick turned out grand. The Tiny Mites gave him a hand, and Windy said, 'Let's see you drop the loop o'er yonder rock.'"

"Then, if you pull it good and tight, I'll do a stunt that is a sight." "Why, sure," snapped Scouty. "I could throw this coil of rope a block."

He did just as he said he would. The lasso man cried, "That was good!" And then he turned to Windy and exclaimed, "It's up to you! I don't know what your stunt can be, but I'll stand right here till I see. I hope, if you're successful, 'twill at least be something new."

Then Windy jumped up on the rope. "Well, here I go," he said. "I hope that I don't take a tumble. I'm a tight-rope walker, see?"

He walked a bit and turned around. Then, as he slipped off to the ground, he said, "Well, that was far enough. At least it was for me."

Wise Goldy cried, "It's now my turn. If you'll watch me, you all will learn how little girls jump rope. It's really not so hard to do."

"Please wait," said Goldy. "I'm in this! It is a stunt I wouldn't miss. And then they jumped together, and it was real clever, too."

Soon Duncy sighed, "If everyone's to have their little fling at fun, I, too, will entertain the bunch. I lasso pretty well."

He took a coil of rope in hand and whirled it 'round to beat the band. Then something funny happened that made all the Tinsies yell.

"The rope's caught in his legs, I guess," cried Copy. "My, but it's a mess. Just look! He's getting tangled up. He never will get out."

Poor Duncy finally dropped the rope. Said he, "You're satisfied, I hope! Oh, well, I just don't know what lassoing is all about."

Q: THE FACT THAT HE DID NOT WRITE IS NO INDICATION OF HIS GUILT. YOU WOULD WANT TO SEND AN INNOCENT MAN TO PRISON?

A: IT'S NOT WITHIN MY JURISDICTION TO SEND HIM ANY PLACE—THE JUDGE WILL ATTEND TO THAT.

Q: YOU HAD A KEEN MIND TO ANALYZE EVIDENCE AND A KINDLY HEART THAT TEMPERED HIS JUDGMENT?

Q: NO EXACT DATE BUT HE INTIMATED IT WOULD BE A WEEK OR SO.

Q: MR. NEBBS, IT ISN'T A USUAL THING TO HAVE AN EMPLOYEE CORRESPOND WITH HIS BOSS DURING A VACATION IS IT—ESPECIALLY A DOORMAN?

A: I THINK IT WOULD BE THE PROPER THING TO INFORM THE BOSS IF ONE WISHES TO EXTEND HIS VACATION.

Q: THE FACT THAT HE DID NOT WRITE IS NO INDICATION OF HIS GUILT. YOU WOULD WANT TO SEND AN INNOCENT MAN TO PRISON?

A: IT'S NOT WITHIN MY JURISDICTION TO SEND HIM ANY PLACE—THE JUDGE WILL ATTEND TO THAT.

WANT

ECONOMIC CONFERENCE CONTINUES

There would have been no reason whatever for mental depression if, as appeared likely yesterday, the London Economic conference had recessed.

Those who have watched international conferences of all sorts had ample reason for concluding, when the conference convened, that it would get nowhere. Such public conferences as the London conference have developed a program by which they put the final and authoritative stamp of approval upon policies and agreements to which the nations joining in the conference have previously agreed.

Months before a successful conference the matters to be discussed and the program, is carefully worked out so that the actual conference usually runs according to schedule. No program was apparent when this conference opened and matters that it had been agreed not to talk about were brought up at the first opportunity. An English expert is quoted by one of the United States observers at the conference as saying almost a month ago: "I do not expect much of this conference. It is the next one that will really act." General Smuts at about the same time said that the "conference opened at the beginning . . . in an atmosphere of gloom and almost of despair."

It seems pretty obvious that the conference would reconvene in better spirit when the national affairs of the respective delegates were working more smoothly and confidently. They would then be in a position to know their own bargaining power. France, on the other hand, is faced with a situation in the Balkans which may leave her isolated, and with a stronger Italy as a rival, so that a new tone of amiability might enter into her negotiations.

CALIFORNIA VISITORS

Radio stars, as well as movie stars, seem to have an affinity for California. Or perhaps the All Year club has been doing some clever advertising and publicity work upon that clique.

Without too much difficulty, we can recall the name of a half-dozen famous head-liners of the air waves who are sojourning in Southern California right now. New York may be able to lure our California artists away, but they almost always come back on the first train that will bring them. And they bring their friends with them.

Among those present in the Southland at this time, or on the way, are Ed Wynn, who is to be made an honorary battalion chief of the Los Angeles fire department; Jack Pearl, the famous "Baron Munchausen"; "Myrt and Marge," Walter Winchell, and even June Purcell, one of the early favorites of Southern California "tuner-inners," is back home.

We are glad to have these celebrities with us, and hope they will return as often as possible. And we know no reason why they shouldn't. There will always be room in our midst for them, whether in the vacation season of the summer time, when they can be present in person, or in the busy season of the radio, when they can come in over the ether.

SPORT PAGES FULL OF NEWS

The sports fan is having the feast of his life at the present time. There is top-notch competition prevailing in almost all sport activities.

This afternoon and tomorrow afternoon Long Beach plays host to the crew races of the year, in which three western and three eastern boatloads of husky oarsmen will vie for the national championship.

In the field of tennis, the Wimbledon championships brought forth a startling upset when Jack Crawford defeated our Ellsworth Vines in five sets. This places our chances of getting into the challenge round of the Davis cup competition in jeopardy.

Two young American professional golfers, Craig Wood and Densmore Shute tied for the British open championship. They play off the tie tomorrow. These spectacular shot-makers continue the hold which the United States has had on this particular title since 1923.

But it took a "tottering old man" to provide the news-writers with copy at Chicago yesterday, when "Babe" Ruth came through in a pinch. He made a home run with Charley Gehringer on base, to give the margin of victory for the all-star American leaguers over the team from the old circuit, by the score of 4-2. This baseball gigantic was the "battle of the century" and will be remembered for many years.

With the boxing championships, wrestling matches, and all down the gamut of sport, the market is almost glutted. But who cares? We would have it no other way. As a method of releasing us from the struggles of our economic and political existence, our interest in these conflicts has no equal. So let the game go on, and may the best man win!

HO! HUM!!

With movie magazines having five million circulation we suppose there is ample reason for certain metropolitan dailies considering the news of another divorce in the movie colony this morning good front page material. For ourselves we can't remember whether the editor has or has not made an error because there is such an air of repetition about the news. It seems as though we have heard it before. But in this day of high technique and efficiency we suppose that a careful record, complicated as the matter is, is kept of the respective divorces, separations, rumors, and reconciliations. Our own interest is no longer stimulated by novelty.

"GIMME! GIMME!"

Who did not become covetous when he read the recent statement of Senator George W. Norris in which he said:

"I have learned on reliable authority that the Russian government desires to buy in the American market $10,000,000 of meat products, 1,000,000 bales of cotton and $400,000,000 worth of machinery. She can make payment partly in kind and partly in money, but must have several years in which to complete the transaction.

"She proposes to ship us products of which we import a large proportion of what we use. She proposes to ship these products and apply the proceeds upon her debt."

We believe that the United States could handle the doctrine which might emanate from Russia, providing they had the trade. When people are comfortable, fed, with a job and a place to sleep they aren't susceptible to strange doctrine.

MATTERN IS FOUND

Faith and hope have robbed the finding of Jimmy Matern of some elements of surprise. Because Moyle and Allen were lost in the same region for nine days and were finally found, when all hope had been abandoned, we learned to sustain our hope for Matern long past the point which would have been reasonable, without the Moyle and Allen experience. At that, however, it is almost like a resurrection.

There is reason for Matern to feel thankful that this experience befell him. It reinstates his news value and the story of his experience, because millions are interested in it, will be of real value to this daring aviator, who deserves whatever benefits will come to him from his experience, which, without doubt, has been harrowing.

ATHEIST SOCIETY DEPRESSED

The annual report of the American Association for the Advancement of Atheism shows that the depression hit that organization a hard blow. One might expect that it would be one of the few to thrive during a depression. The membership in the Association has declined steadily during hard times; its income has been reduced by half. In fact it faces extinction because of its handicaps.

The report, it appears, is willing to be self-discouraging for it states that church membership has increased constantly all through the depression, so that more than 50,000,000 Americans are today regular church attendants.

Atheism is a non-essential luxury in times like these and people haven't the spirit for that sort of thing that they had when life went along with a song. In those days people felt quite sure of themselves. Now they are not so sure and the church is a comfortable resort.

Covent Garden

At the conclusion of the recent grand opera season at Covent Garden the conductor, Sir Thomas Beecham, wondered rather doubtfully whether that famous theater would ever again respond to the strains of "Otello" or "The Mastersingers."

In Great Britain as well as in America, opera has great difficulties to meet; and it seems almost inevitable that its principal home in London will now know it no more. Covent Garden Opera House appears certain to be demolished in the near future in order to make way for wider and more modern streets.

Covent Garden is not famous for opera only; drama and vegetables play an equal part in its repute. It is the most celebrated open-air market in London; while until the nineteenth century it was a recognized home of Shakespeare. The first theater on this site was built in 1733 out of the profits of the "Beggars' Opera"; booths and sheds had been set up there as early as 1666, so that in the matter of time potatoes had the precedence of plays. It was here that John Philip Kemble and his sister, Sarah Siddons, made Shakespeare popular; and it was also here that Adelina Patti and Nellie Melba achieved some of their greatest triumphs.

The Opera House will take with it many memories; but many of those who have the cause of music closest at heart will not entirely regret the passing of this famous theater. If opera is to take a real part in contemporary activities it must be presented in a house intended to fulfill the needs of democracy. This, it is recognized, Covent Garden cannot do; it is a theater largely designed for wealthy box holders of whom there are not enough to make the house pay.

Moreover, the bringing together for a short season in the spring of each year of a number of the most brilliant singers of Europe is not really an ideal way of presenting opera. It makes for sensational individual performances, but not for good team work. Regular productions by a resident company attracting a steady and ever-increasing audience, as the Vio-Wells presentations by Miss Lillian Baylis are now doing, afford, many feel, a better basis for successful opera.

Lower Postage Should Hold Postal System

The drop in postage from 3 cents to 2 cents an ounce on July 1 will be welcome everywhere, and will result in an immediate jump in the volume of local mail. With the combination of three-cent postage and hard times, both individuals and business institutions have boycotted the postoffice to the extent of millions of letters. Monthly statements and other communications have often been sent by messenger. Bills have been paid in person instead of mailed checks.

The lower postage rate may bring as large receipts, or larger, and also help business. If it does, the Government will probably extend the policy to all first-class mail. That might be worth while, even if it did not pay its way directly, because of the way it would promote general business revival.

FORCE OF HABIT

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

ONLY FAIR

I never would censure the hunter
For shooting the timid wild geese,
Though as far as I know
These fowls never show
Any thought of disturbing the peace.
But, since he is skilled in destruction,
I think that he might now and then
Take a shot at the flies
In whose sinister eyes
Gleams a menacing hatred for men.

Tracking deer, I concede, is a pastime
Which brings to the Nimrod a thrill;
The whole world around
This pursuit has been found
A test of rare patience and skill.
But when he comes home from the woodland
Why cannot he snipe at his ease
Wicked aphids and worms,
Wild and pitiless germs,
And gnats and mosquitoes and fleas.

I would never deny to the sportsman
The fun that he gets from the chase.
But the creatures he stalks
Do not harry like hawks
The ranks of the whole human race.
Let him do all the shooting he wants to,
But bid him go forth now and then
And take sure steady aim
While he choose for game
The creatures that make game of men.

Thoughts On Modern Life

CONSTRUCTIVE ECONOMY

That it is necessary for public institutions as well as private individuals to tighten their belts in lean years may be admitted without argument, as I have admitted again and again in these articles during this phase of depression. I have broken my lance as often as any other American against waste inefficiency and the retention of public services that are manifestly obsolete.

I lifted my voice and lent my pen in behalf of such economy when the economic skies were bright and the boasted statistics of our paper prosperity tempted private individuals and public institutions alike to reckless prodigality. I think, therefore, I have earned the right now, when the economic skies are dark and the stern fact of a depleted national income confronts us, to speak of the national danger involved in any economy program that is not directed by a statesmanlike sense of relative values.

The necessity for economy is indisputable. The nature of economy is debatable. The form of economy may make the fact of economy either a national asset or a national liability. There are three considerations that I think the voting millions must keep in mind if they are to think straight on the details of the economy programs of local, state and national governments. They are:

(1) The staggering deficits that have confronted local, state and national governments since the collapse of 1929 have been due less to the rise in the cost of public services than to the drop in public income.

In 1928, we put about 11 per cent of the national income into taxes. In 1932 we put about 33 per cent of the national income into taxes. But the cost of public services had not trebled in those four years. The national income had simply nosedived to a new low level.

(2) The public services of government, for all the criticisms that may legitimately be leveled against them, are, by and large, the things that give to American civilization such stability and meaning as it has in this singularly unstable and confused time.

(3) It is not sound statesmanship to make the basic services of a civilization wholly dependent upon the current income of a period of depression.

OBSTINATE CHILDREN

"What are you going to do with an obstinate child? Tell him to do something although it was the very thing he wanted to do he will refuse to do it. Talking, spanking, driving him are all useless. If he won't he won't. This makes things in the home and school very hard for him and the others. He sits like a rock in the stream. How can we budge him?"

If he wanted to do something why did he tell him to do it? You see there is in every one of us a strong distaste for domination. We will work hard, go to no end of trouble, strain ourselves beyond endurance to get a job done so long as we are working under our own power. The moment somebody lays hands on our will to make it his own, saying, "You do this because I want it done," all the joy of the adventure fades. All desire for furthering it departs from us. We don't want to do it any more. If we can, we will say we won't do it. If we are not in a position to say that we go about the task drearily, with no heart in it, and the work is not well done. Don't tell an obstinate child to do anything if you can help it.

Let him pick his own job and carry it through. If you have to direct him make a suggestion, ask him if he would like to do this, then turn away from him and leave him to find a way to lay hold of the job without loss of face. He thinks a great deal of that face. He feels it has been disgraced. When you ordered him to do something he felt that you had invaded his personal privacy and his whole spirit rebelled against that. He suffers when this happens. You do his spirit no good when you try to force him to your will.

"I told him to take off his rubbers and coat and put them away and down he sat on the floor with that settled look on his face and I knew I was in for it. I had to work with him for two hours until we were both worn out and then I had to hold his hands on his coat and rubbers while I pulled them off. Then I put him to bed."

Either take the rubbers and coat off in the beginning or leave him to sit there on the floor just as long as he pleases. The latter way if possible. Go about your own business cheerfully and behave as though it absorbed you completely. If you can have a very good time, such a good time that it attracts the young man
